Appeal is Denied
(By the Associated Press)
LANSING, Mich.—The last hope of the House of David colony of Benton Harbor to prevent the state from taking steps to bring about its dissolution has been dissipated. The Michigan supreme court has denied the appeal of the colony from the Ingham circuit court to dismiss the proceedings.

As a result circuit Judge Leland Carr of this district will set a date when the colony must file an answer to charges of fraud, deceit, and immorality preferred by the state. Following the filing of the answer, hearings will be held at which the colony must show cause why it should not be disbanded.

The state, it has been intimated, will seek to throw the cult into the hands of a receiver pending outcome of the quo warranto proceedings.

Plan University's Greatest Commencement Program

Cut by The Print Shop.

Upper row, left to right— Anthony J. Nerad, orator for college of engineering; Mildred Downie, orator as vice president of the senior class; Rolland F. Williams, president of the senior class, address of welcome; and Clifford Mathys, orator for the college of law; lower row, left to right— Dora V Ingraham, orator for the college of letters and science; Gustavo K. Tebell, sergeant-at-arms of senior class; Prof. Julius E. Olson, in charge of commencement day exercisea; Isabell L. Capps, secretary of senior class; and Hugo L. Rusch, treasurer of senior class. All photos for this layout by the Badger Studio with the exception of that of Mildred Downie by De Longe.

WHILE elections, Badger work, jamborees, military hops and the like have been drawing the attention of the majority of students at the University of Wisconsin during the past month, two score or more of young men and women have earnestly turned their attentions toward the preparation of the annual commencement program—one which will eclipse all previous graduation weeks in the school's history.

More than a thousand students will finish their work on the hill this spring and more than 1,000 diplomas will be handed out by President E. A. Birge at Commencement Day exercises, Monday, June 18, at Agricultural hall.

The graduating exercises will take place over the week end this year instead of during the middle of the week as in former years.

The seniors' will begin their farewell exercises on Friday, June 15, when class day will be observed. Saturday, June 16, will be alumni day and the baccalaureate exercises will be held on Sunday, June 17.

Smoke Peace Pipe

The pipe of peace ceremony will be held at 11 o'clock Friday night at the lower campus, in continuation of the custom established by the class of 1891. Arthur A. Inman, Whitewater, will give the pipe of peace oration, while Harold A. Seering, Shawano, will give the junior acceptance.

The class day exercises will open at 3 o'clock on Muir Knoll with the "Address of Welcom,e" to be given by Rolland F. Williams, Edgerton, president of the senior class. The "Class History," to be presented by Marjorie Severance, Milwaukee, and Roy L. French, Madison, will follow.

Wayne L. Morse, Madison, will deliver the "Class Day Oration." The "Farewell to Underclassmen" will be given by Robert Bruce Stewart, Madison, and Gamber F. Tegtmeyer, Milwaukee, will respond for the juniors.

Tebell Gives Memorial

The class memorial will be presented by Gustav K. Tebell, Aurora, Ill., and will be accepted for the faculty by Prof. A. V. Millar.

The "Ivy Oration" will be delivered by Karl Francis Karel, Kewaunee, the "Ivy Ode," by Mildred Downie, Madison, while Leslie R. Gage, Peoria, Ill., will be the planter of the ivy.

The senior class play will be presented at 8:30 on class day at the outdoor theater in rear of Bascom hall.

Alumni day will be observed on Saturday. The business meeting of the Alumni association will be held at 10:30 in Music hall.

Commemoration exercises for Bishop Fallows will be held at 11.15.

Procession By Classes

The senior-alumni luncheon is scheduled for noon at Lathrop hall, and will be followed at 1:30 by a baseball game between Wisconsin and Chicago on the lower campus, and a lake shore concert at 3:30 by the First Regiment band.

WomenOppose Military Idea For Boys' Day

Women's League For Peace And Freedom States Position On Question

BY CHESTER C. PLATT

Several women's organizations are protesting against the military features of the entertainment which is being planned at Camp Randall following the Boys' parade of next Tuesday.

When told of the feeling that is being aroused against any military background to the boys' parade, W. J. Jackson of the committee which is sponsoring the celebration said that he had no idea there would be any objection to the cavalry drill and the drill of President Birge's own guards which he said he has been trying to arrange, but was not sure that he would be successful.

He said he had promised the clergymen of the city and the school authorities that in connection with the parade there would be no military features and nobody in uniform except the band. "The good women won't object to the band uniform, will they?" asked Mr. Jackson, "or the field radio demonstration by the military department."

At a meeting of the executice committee of the State Woman's Progressive association yesterday afternoon, the military features of the boys' entertainment were discussed. The suggestion was made that the girls of the city should be invited to join with the boys in the parade.

Mrs. C. E. Schreiber, president of the Madison branch of the International League for Peace and Fredom, Mrs. J. W. Riley of the legislative committee of the same organization, and other members are discussing the advisability f calling a meeting to protest against the military demonstration.

The following statement was issued today by the executive committee of the International League for Peace and Freedom:

"We fully appreciate the value of a movement among our citizens to impress the public mind with the potential value for citizenship in the boys of our city. We heartily approve of a day thrown open to recognize the power of the growing forces of our youth. We recognize in this throng a power for world reorganization, the injection of dynamic strength for uplifting mankind.

"We recognize, further that while the boys impress the public with their potential force, that very force as directed largely by public opinion. We, therefore, as mothers of boys, protest against any military feature being introduced into this day of play for boys. We would let military demonstrations be confined to military programs, and peace demonstrations, to peace programs. If May Day is to be Boys' Day, let it be given over to boys' activities as boys, nod not to demonstrations as soldiers."

Gary Mayor Is Given Eighteen Months' Term

Fifty-two Defendants In Liquor Probe Are Sentenced

(By the Associated Press)

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — Sentences ranging from one day to a year and six months in jail were given to fifty two persons convicted of conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws in Gary and Lake county, Ind., by Federal Judge Geiger in U. S. court here today. Roswell O. Johnson, mayor of Gary, was sentenced to serve one year and six months at the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga. and fined $2,000. William W. Dunn, former judge of the Gary city court, was sentenced to one year and a day in priso nand fined $1,000.

Two Pageants Given At Trousdale Church Friday

Two pageants, "Janie's Palace of Delight," and "Blazing the Trail," were given at Trousdale Methodist church last night under the auspices of the Women's Home Missionary society. The former was a four act play with Mrs. R. F. Wilnett as Mrs. North, Mrs. R. Bentley as Emily, and Shirley Watson as Janie. Miss Lena Comstock gave a violin solo.

Blaine Against More Training For Teachers

Declares Measure Would Discourage Rural High Schools

Governor Blaine today vetoed the Ridgway bill intended to force higher requirements for teachers in Wisconsin high schools, upon the ground that the "effect of the measure is to prohibit, after July 1, 1924, graduates of two-year normal school courses from teaching in any high school and certain graded schools."

"If this bill were to become law," the governor said, "it would have the direct tendency to discourage the establishment of high schools in rural communities, due to increased cost of instruction.

"I can safely suggest that the tendency of this bill is to establish eventually in the normal schools a four-year course of training before the student will be entitled to teach in high schools. Heretofore graduates from normal school two-year courses have been permitted to teach in schools from which they would be excluded under this bill.

"If the training of teachers in the normal schools had been inefficient, the inefficiency has been of recent development and the fault must lie with the curriculum and training in normal schools."

The governor said that there was no public demand for the change.

Says Immigration Law Violated By Thousands

PITTSBURGH — Thousands of foreigners have been brought into the United States in violation of the law restricting immigration, Secretary of Labor Davis declared in an address yesterday.

Rev. A. Zitterl, HolyRedeemer Church, Dead

Succumbs At Age Of 77, After Ill Health Of Several Years

Rev. Alois Zitterl, 77, for more than 45 years a resident of Madison, and pastor of the Holy Redeemer Catholic church for 33 years, died at his home, 123 W. Gorham st., at 11 o'clock this morning.

He had been in ill health for several years, and for the past two months has been confined to his bed. He is susvived by one sister who lives in Linz, Austria. She kept house for her brother for several years while he was pastor of the Holy Redeemer church.

Rev. Zitterl was born June 12, 1845, in St. Oswald Austria, and received his early education in that country. He came to the United States in August, 1866, and entered St. Francis seminary, Milwaukee. Two years later, in Dec. 1868, he was ordained a priest by Archbishop Henni.

In March 1877, Rev. Zitterl assumed his duties as pastor of the Holy Redeemer church on W. Johnson st., when church and school were in the same building. The church has since been remodeled and a school built. While pastor of that congregation, he frequently conducted services in villages throughout Dane county. He resigned his pastorate in 1910, after 33 years of service, and has since lived a retired life at his home on W. Gorham st.

The body of Rev. Zitterl will lie in the meeting room of Holy Redeemer church from 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon until 10 o'clock Tuesday morning. It will then be taken into the church to lie in state until the funeral services.

The high mass for the dead will be read by Archbishop Sebasien G. Messmer, Milwaukee, at 10 o'clock, Wednesday morning. No sermon will be preached, in accordance with a wish expressed by the deceased. Burial will be at Holy Cross cemetery.

10 Unions Here Sued By Sleuth

Russell Detective To Ask $5,000 For Injuries In Trade War

A $5,000 damage suit against 10 Madison building trades unions and the Northwestern railroad company has been started by John J. Hallady, detective of the Russell agency of Milwaukee as the aftermath of the 1920 building trades strike in this city it was learned today.

A summons against the 10 unions and the railroad company was served late yesterday afternoon by Sheriff Julius Krug at the request of L. W. Slensby, Milwaukee, attorney for the detective.

Another suit in which Hallady is the plaintiff, is also pending in Circuit court against the city of Madison in which he asks similar damages. This case is pending on demurrer.

The suit is the outgrowth of the 1920 building trades strike when many Madison contractors hired Russell detectives to guard strike breakers imported to carry on the work of the striking men.

Hallady was one of several Russell detectives who met an incoming Northwestern train at 9 o'clock the night of April 27, 1920, on which were riding a large body of imported strike breakers. It was the duty of the detectives to prevent the imported men from receiving injuries at the hands of striker's pickets.

A near-riot ensued when the strikers and strike-breakers met, and Hallady is alleged to have sustained a fracture to the transverse process of the spine.

The unions named as defendants in the action are: bricklayers and masons, carpenters and joiners, electricians, hoisting engineers, lathers, painters and decorators, plasterers plumbers, steam fitters, and tinsmiths.

Senator Severson Says Badgers Law-Breakers

Wisconsin citizens are becoming a body of law-breakers, Sen. H. J. Severson charged in an address last night at Bethel Lutheran church.

"People are breaking minor laws every day without thinking," he said, "and this gives them courage to break more fundamental laws, such as the prohibition act.

"It will take some time to wipe out the bootlegger, rum seller and 'blind pig,' but it must be done," he declared. "The trouble is that there is too much law making in Wisconsin. Every legislator feels that it is his duty to introduce bills."

Ex-Prohibition Agent Here In Grip Of Law

John E. Fillion, former prohibition agent in Wisconsin was arrested at Buffalo, New York, Friday, culminating a two year search for him by department of justice agents, on warrants charging him with accepting bribes from liquor rings at Hurley, Wis. Fillion will be arraigned at Superior May 25, before Judge C. Z. Luse, in United States District court.

Fillion was indicted by a grand jury at Superior April 9, 1921, but succeeded in making his escape to Canda. He may be tried in Madison at the fall term of the U. S. District court.

HILLSBORO —Negotiations for purchase of the local light plant by the Middle Wisconsin Utilities company have been completed, according to reports received here.

Follows Move In New York

Price Tumbles As Report Of "Housewives' Strikes" Reaches Exchange

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Sugar futures broke 26 ot 27 points on the exchange today. Operators offered Cubans down to 6½ cents a pound without attracting buyers, although this figure was ¼c lower than the recent high for raws.

The decline followed publication of reports of a movement by housewives to support a buyers' strike while the present high prices exist.

Boycott In New York

NEW YORK — Mayor Hylan in a proclamation today called upon the people of New York to declare a sugar strike to break high prices, which he asserted were due to the greed of speculators.

May "Strike" In Madison

Mayor I. M. Kittleson today intimater that he would follow the example of Mayor Hylan, New York, i ncalling a sugar strike to break high prices if sentiment in the community favored such a move. Sentiment in the city does favor such a move, evidenced by the following statements of Madison grocers.

Howard Piper of Piper Bros., said:

"Such a move would do good if it were general, but it would be pretty hard to get concerted action throughout the country. A local strike, without nationwide action, would have absolutely no effect."

S. E. Capron, west side grocer, after charging that plenty of sugar was available and that the present high prices were due to financial juggling, declared:

"I believe if people were to use sugar sparingly for a few weeks, the price would come down."

"I believe a strike would help," William Brady, east side grocer, said. "If people all over the country would quit buying sugar for 15 days the price would come down."

That women of the community are up in arms over the high prices is attested by the statement of Mrs. William Kittle that "something should be done. Sugar is going up and there is no reason why it should. A protest should be made, but whether a strike is the proper protest, I don't know."

Mrs. Joseph Leary Of Edgerton Is Summoned

Mrs. Joseph J. Leary of Edgerton, sister of Thomas Reynolds, register in probate court here, and of Edward J. Reynolds, Madison, died at a local hospital at 6:40 this morning after an illness of six months, age 49. Mrs. Leary, who will be better known to the older residents as Miss Josie Reynolds, was born in Madison and resided here until her marriage in 1898, since which time she has lived in Edgerton.

Surviving her are her husband and five children, three sons and two daughters. The sons are John, Edward, and Richard, and the daughters, Mary and Alice.

Five brothers also survive. Funeral services will be held at Edgerton Tuesday at 10:00 a. m. from St. Joseph's church, Rev. J. E. Harlan officiating.

Business Men Will Attend Commerce Smoker

Madison business men will attend the banquet given by the university commerce course at 6 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in Lathrop parlors in commemoration of the 23rd anniversary of the course. Tickets may be secured for $1 from the offices of the Association of Commerce.

Engineers Make Apology For "Kehl's Dive" Float

The committee in charge of the Engineer's parade agreed with Prof. F. W. Kehl, dancing academy proprietor, to make the following public apology for the "Kehl's Dive" float in the parade last Saturday.

The float depicted a scene from the dancing academy. Several students danced on a truck which bore the sign "Kehl's Dive."

The Apology

"Last Saturday, April 21, the Engineers of the university had a public parade around the Capitol Square and on State street and one of the attractions was a truck upon which was painted in big, black letters the words "Kehl's Dive," and during the parade some of the participants performed exaggerated dances on the truck.

"The committee in charge of this parade now realize that a grave injustice to Professor F. W. Kehl who has conducted for a great many years a high class dancing academy in the city of Madison, has been done and that a wrong impression of his academy has been given to those who do not understand that the whole parade was a farce.

"We know that Prof. Kehl has always conducted a dancing academy that has always been above reproach and we regret very much that a wrong impression was created in this matter. We take this opportunity of making a public apology to Prof. Kehl, and request that the public take the parade as it was, as a caricature, and that it was intended in no wise to be a reflection upon Professor Kehl or the high standing of his dancing academy.

PARADE COMMITTEE.

Kehl Makes Comment

"I have nothing to say and ought not speak for publication as the committee and I have come to an agreement," Prof. F. W. Kehl stated yesterday afternoon.

"I have been done an injustice. I don't want a law suit to settle this affair. The committee has agreed to publish an apology and to rectify the injustice," he concluded.

Petitions For A. C. F. Board Due This Week

Candidates for the four positions on the A. C. F. board and the two positions on the agricultural library board for the coming year may file their petitions at Dean J. A. James office any time between now and May 4, according to Edwin A. Rohrbeck '24, chairman of the Agricultural College federation.

Two agric and two home-economics students are elected to the board from the agricultural student body every spring. These officers serve on the board throughout the ensuing university year. The remaining personnel of the board is composed of representatives of the various agricultural and home-economics student organizations. Each recognized student organization is entitled to one representative on the board.

The Agricultural College federation passes upon student policies pertaining to the College of Agriculture. The problems of Freshmen welcome, A. C. Engineers Will Hold Annual Dance Tonight

Tonight's the night for the engineers. Every son of St. Pat who has got two legs will be at the engineers' dance in his Sunday-best clothes, with his Sunday-best girl.

This three-hour lab class meets but once a year. It carries no credit, but the reports in the past have been excellent.

If you haven't danced all year, don't hesitate, but summon your courage and come to this nine o'clock and come prepared to stay awake.

"Daddy" Millar bought the first ticket and Gus Larson and "Otto" Kowalke, with their wives, are going to chaperon. The rest of the faculty are urged to follow their admirable example and attend the hop at the Candy Shop.

Women's Convo Of Journalists Draw Rules

NORMAN, Okla., April 27—Women journalists eminent in their city or state may now be elected to associate membership in Theta Sigma Phi, women's honorary and professional journalism fraternity, according to a provision made by the national convention meeting here yesterday.

Sophie Kerr Underwood, well known novelist, in addressing the students at the convention said, "Your mind, only a tool, must be trained like any other tool. College is worth while only if it teaches one how to handle his mind. Education today is the acquirement of mental habits. Recognize your own limitations, but not too fully."

Ruth Half, a critic from New York, also addressed the meeting. Twenty-six colleges were represented at the convention.

The Matrix, the fraternity magazine, is to be published oftener, and its circulation is to be open to all women journalists, as well as to the members of Theta Sigma Phi.

Tobacco Notes

Tobacco is being received daily at Stoughton and other leaf centers and the companies engaged in the weed business are taking over a large part of the remaining pool goods. Yesterday H. S. McGiffin of Sparta and Mr. Israel of New York were at Stoughton taking over poo tobacco for the American Cigar Co., of which the latter is president and the former Wisconsin agent. Several allottments have been made to this company. Activities at the various warehouses are slowing up somewhat as the sorters are leaving for regular spring jobs elsewhere. Farmers are now experiencing difficulty in securing help, though very high wages are being offered. Tenant houses in the country are many of them vacant. "However," says the Edgerton Tobacco Reporter, "with the present bright prospects for a good market it is not likely that any tobacco fields will be abandoned this year.

An example of the prosperity of the tobacco companies is afforded by the statement that the net earnings of Tobacco Products, aside from its return investments, were 100 per cent larger for the first quarter of the year than they were for the corresponding period of the preceding twelvemonth, says "Tobacco."

The New York Tobacco Leaf says with reference to Pennsylvania—"The East Windsor Tobacco Growers, Inc., met early this week and practically decided for the dissolution of the corporation, as most of the members have joined the big pool with similar objects in view.

The warehouses are all busy bulking, sorting and packing the different crops purchased by them and are hustling hard to get the goods into cases. The tobacco is going into the cases exceptionally sound and will make a wonderful blender with other tobacco when fully matured and sweated."

Dunkirk schools met yesterday afternoon at the Goff school south of Stoughton in a spelling contest and the standings were, first, Nora Fosdahl of Pleasant Hill; second, Leo Gilson, third Elizabeth Burns, of Mt. Pleasant school; fourth Elizabeth Fosdahl, Bass Lake school.

The community club of the Stone school district in Rutland met last evening at the home of the town chairman, H. C. Rasmusson. The evening was spent in playing "500" and in enjoying a lunch.

Turkey Tired Of War, Says Crane In Talk

Describes Near East Situation In Talk At Convocation

The political and military situation in the Near East and the high regard which the people of that section have for the United States formed the subject matter for a talk by Dr. Charles R. Crane, former member of the Wilson commission to Turkey, at the all-university convocation in Music hall at 3:30 yesterday afternoon.

Dr. Crane spoke on the various countries in the Near East in turn and explained their attitude toward each other.

That the Turks were tired of war four years ago and had a great desire to become reconciled to the western world was the opinion of Dr. Crane. Since the recent Greek uprising the spirit has changed considerably, he said.

He presented much material different from the general propaganda concerning the Near East which has been circulated in this country. This information was gathered in talks which Dr. Crane has had with leaders in Turkey, Syria and Egypt.

Dr. Crane will be the guest of honor at the monthly dinner of a dining club today at the home of Prof. and Mrs. F. L. Paxson. While in Madison he is being entertained at the home of Prof. and Mrs. H. C. Bradley, College Hills.

Removes "Lump" from Stomach

Ever feel as if you had a lump in the pit of your stomach, causing a burning sensation, sour taste, heart palpitation, shortness of breath, bloating or other disagreeable effects? These are some of the most common symptoms of excessive gas resulting from a nervous stomach.

Many people say this "lump" feels like a ball of molten iron, while others claim that it is more like a rock. Of course, it isn't a lump at all, but merely an accumulation of gas in the stomach pressing against the heart or other organs.

By taking Baalmann's Gas Tablets before and after meals, you can prevent distress from gas and aid in correcting the nervous condition responsible for the trouble.

You'll find Baalmann's Gas Tablets on sale at Menges Pharmacies Co. Price, one dollar. Look for the yellow package. J. Baalmann, Chemist, San Francisco.—Adv.

STATEMENT

To Its Patrons:—The railroads are a part of every farmer's farm, every manufacturer's factory, every merchant's store, and, indeed, they constitute a vital part of every industry.

In view, therefore, of the announced purpose of a few men in public life to continue to use railroads as easy vehicles to political preferment, it is apparent that every farmer, manufacturer, merchant, and, indeed, every thoughtful person everywhere should devote some time to a study of railroad problems.

It is likewise apparent that the railroads should lend all assistance possible to those willing and, as we believe, anxious to learn the true facts.

Therefore, it is the purpose of the Chicago and North Western Railway Company to present, through the local press in communities in which it operates, statements from time to time bearing upon the particular railway problems in which our patrons and the public are vitally interested.

This Company wants to continue to be a helpful factor in the material and social progress of every community that it serves. It wants to render the best possible service at the lowest rates consistent with fair compensation for its employes and a reasonable return upon its investment.

To this end it is essential that the Railway Company and its patrons undertake, in a spirit of mutual helpfulness, to arrive at a better understanding of the fundamental facts underlying the problems which pertain to railway maintenance, operation and financing.

We believe that the outstanding and predominating characteristic of the average American citizen is his love of justice and fair play. That if the public be kept advised of the true facts, the railroads have nothing to fear from public regulation.

We therefore ask the readers of The Capital Times to study the statements which this Company will publish in future issues. We invite constructive suggestions and earnestly urge a study of railway problems uninfluenced by political prejudices.

The railroads constitute the greatest industry in America, and indeed in the world, outside of agriculture. This is true not only because of their common carrier functions but also because they are the largest employers of workers—both skilled and unskilled—and the largest purchasers of supplies and materials. Their success or failure is of vital concern to all.

Kittle in Statement, Says He Was Struck As Back Was Turned

Secretary Of Normal Regents Explains Affair With Assemblyman

William Kittle, secretary of the state board of normal regents, who was struck Thursday evening by Assemblyman F. P. Peterson, Waukesee, issued a statement today denying that he had provoked the attack in any way. His statement was in reply to assedtions of Mr. Peterson that Mr. Kittle had used epithets in addressing him.

According to the secretary's version of the affair, which he says is supported by President Ramer of the Normal board, Assemblyman Peterson angered by the normal board opposition to his bill requiring college courses in normal schools, without warning struck Mr. Kittle while his back was turned, partially knocking him down and breaking his glasses.

Mr. Kittle's statement follows:

"On April 2th, Mr. Ramer and I, President and Secretary of the Board of Normal Regents appeared before the Joint Committee on education against Bill No. 448A introduced by Assemblyman F. J. Sensenbrenner. We were there acting for the Board of Normal Regents in full accord with a formal resolution by the Board on July 12th, 1922. We were there at a public hearing duly advertised by the Committee on Education of the Legislature. We presented the question of the policy of the state normal schools of the state with reference to teacher- training for 15,000 teachers in Wisconsin schools in the interests of 500,000 pupils in the public schools, with absolute courtesy and respect for men and women at the hearing representing an opposing policy. I make particular pains to state my belief in the sincerity and good faith of those in favor of the Bill.

"Immediately after the Hearing, Mr. Ramer and I left to go to our office in the capitol. We walked down the stairway with Mr. Peterson and at no time did I utter a discourteous word to him. Mr. Ramer was directly at our side and will verify this fact. Half way down the stairway, Mr. Peterson began to attack the Normal Board for its action in July, 1922. I repeat that at no time did I utter a discourteous word. The only reply I made was that the board was trying to secure a fundamental state policy for teacher-training. It was very evident to Mr. Ramer and me that Mr. Peterson was angry at our opposition to his bill.

"At the foot of the stairway, Mr. Ramer and I turned to go to our office, with Mr. Peterson going west to the Assembly Chamber. I was directly by Mr. Ramer's side when I was struck on the back of the head, partly throwing me down and my eye glasses falling to the floor. At the moment I was struck, I had no idea or even warning, because he was at my back having left us, at the corner, without any of us stopping at the turn.

"I uttered no discourteous word nor gave any justification whatever for the brutal assault, which was made at my back, without warning.

"After the assault, I turend and ignored the epithet which others heard, and which Mr. Ramer will say was uttered after the attack.

The reports contain other untrue statements:

'The governor has got had me down on the carpet several times.' He called me to his office only once on the subject of lobbying and stated that he was calling in many heads of departments and that he did not wish to leave me out, and that he wished my help in the ordinary routine of business. I assured him that I was in hearty accord with such policy and that for weeks prior to that time, I had written a circular letter to the heads of the normal schools for that policy.

"Less than half a dozen cases, members of the legislature have been in my office, for information and upon without any reservation discussed questions fully, and will do so. If this be lobbying, then we should be enacted [illegible] heads of departments furnishing information to members of the legislature.

"The assault by a member of the legislature, without the provocation, immediately before the Committee Hearing, [illegible] THE HONOR AND [illegible] OF EVERY LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE OF WISCONSIN. The assault was before the committee hearing, [illegible] of force and violence [illegible] should be a continuance of the integrity of [illegible] hearings.

"WILLIAM KITTLE."

Father Oberle Opposes Free Text Book Bill

Says That Parochial Schools Relieving State Of Big Burden

The question of free text books for public schools, which has been a bone of contention in practically every legislature for the last twenty years, was again threshed out at a joint hearing of the education committee yesterday.

Assemblyman E. H. Johnson, Burnett county, autohr of the free text book bill now pending, urged passage of the bill because of the relief it would bring to poor families who have a large number of children to educate, while the Rev. James Oberle of Milwaukee, representing the Catholic Social Union, expressed opposition because it would work a hardship on members of his church.

"We make school attendance in Wisconsi ncompulsary; then force the parents of children to buy text books, frequently when they can ill afford to do so," Mr. Johnson said. "This is manifestly unfair. We should more evenly distribute the burden of educating the futrre generations. People who have no children should be made to pay their share of educating the children of their neighbors.

"The churches have no right to oppose such a bill. They are enjoying all of the advantages of the free government and free worship. They should be willing to contribute to the support of our schools."

Father Oberle declared that in the eyes of his church secular and religious education went hand in hand and could not be divorced.

"The constitution guarantees us the right of religious liberty and on this right we have established our parochial schools," he said. "We have no quarrel with public schools, but our religious system calls for a different method of educatin. We believe in modern and efficient schools but we fail to see how free text books will aid in promoting them.

"There are 71,984 children attending parochial schools in Wisconsin. Our church is relieving the state of a great burden by educating these children. It would cost the state nearly $5,000,000 a year to educate them, and we are saving the tsate thi smuch by educating them ourselves. I can see no necessity for a bill of this nature."

Warships May Battle Rum Fleet; Ask Legality

WASHINGTON—A resort to use of naval vessels in combatting rum smuggling off the Atlantic coast has been determined upon by the administration if the department of justice decides the president has the legal authority to put into effect a plan already worked out.

The administration today was awaiting an opinion from the justice department as to whether the president has the power to declare an "emergency" and use the armed forces of the government to hunt down th rum runners, a course urged for some time by Prohibition Commissioner Haynes.

High Officials to Ask Gov. Blaine for Parley to Iron Out Tax Bill

Wants Meeting Of Leading Progressives On Taxation

Peace offers are seen to be made to Gov. Blaine in the tax controversy that is tying up the Wisconsin legislature, it was learned authoritaively today.

A suggestion, expected to come from a high state official, will be made for a confeernce between the governor and progressive republican leaders in an effort to draft a revenue measure that can get through both souses.

This state officer has come to the conclusion, he says, that the governor's tax bill cannot muster enough votes to get through the senate. He bases his conclusion on the opposition of 13 stalwart senators, the opposition of three socialists and four additional progressives.

In a letter which will probably be sent to the governor, it is learned that this official asks that Gov. Blaine call into conference Senator H. J. Severson, Senator Henry A. Huber, Speaker John L. Dahl, Atty. Gen. Herman L. Ekern, and other leaders, for the purpose of drawing up a compromise measure that would fulfill progressive republican pledges for tax revision.

The governor's letter to the joint committee on finance, asking that a tax bill be passed by the present session of the legislature did not specifically request that his own bill be accepted, legislative leaders were pointing out today. They say that this indicates a probable realization that the measure in its present form cannot get through the upper house.

Senator Severson is known to have expressed his willingness to help in drafting a new tax bill that can muster a united backing of progressive republicans. Other progressives are said to have taken the same position, so that there is a general talk that another revenue measure may yet be drafted.

Judge Stevens To Review $4,000 Suit Of R. J. Wolf

Judge E. Ray Stevens today set aside the $4,000 damage verdict granted R. Jason Wolf by a jury in his suit against the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway Co. Wolf who was knocked into Lake Monona while crossing the Monona railroad trestle two years ago, was granted $4,000 damages by the Circuit court jury on his original $10,000 suit last month.

Oriental Rugs Being Shown At Store Here

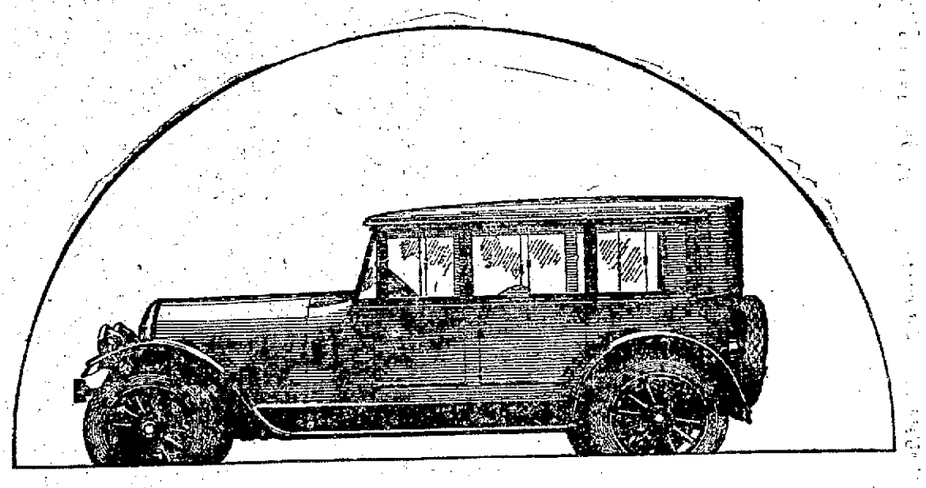

Weaving amid a wealth of oriental rugs in rich blue and rose and glossy with age, falls to the lot of Mrs. S. A. Gulesserian, in the window of Haswell's furniture store. Her husband, a rug deaer, has the argest stock of orienta rugs ever dispayed in Madison for his 12th anniversary sale.

Besides the Armenian karmanshal, saraband, and saruks, he has Chinese rugs and those in the huge Cossack design. One Armenian rug, the shah abbas, was made over a hundred years ago and probably took several people four years to finish it. It is very large and fine in weave.

"Every pattern is different. Sometimes one changes the color and sometimes the figure, but they are never the same," said Mrs. Gulesserian, who was born in Armenia and is weaying a saraband.

Gospel Missionaries Will Meet In Minneapolis

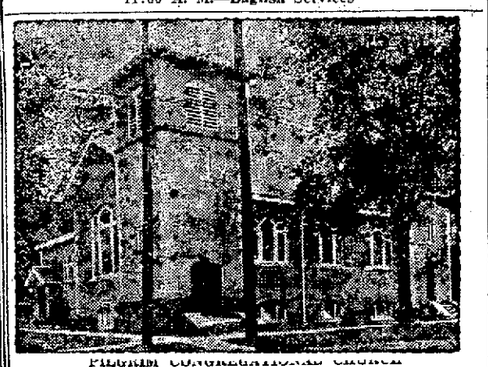

Mission folk from the east, west, north and south will assemble in Minneapolis May 20-24 for the tenth annual convention of the International Union of Gospel Missions. Missions in 350 American cities of all sizes have been invited to send a director, superintendent and a successful convert to the meeting, according to Rev. W. A. Paul, chairman of the committee on arrangements.

A new feature entitled "A Clinic in Regeneration" will be staged during the meeting, and a large number of outstanding converts, men who have made good in business and in the professional world, will give short testimonials on each of the five nights of the convention.

Mission problems listed for discussion include: "The Panhandler", "The Handicapped Man", "The Fanatical Mission", "The Church Support", "The Wandering Convert", "The Work Test", "The Transforming of Reformed Men", and the "Future of Rescue Work".

Madison's Modern Ice Cream Plant

The Man Who Started and Owns the American Ice Cream Company

Twenty years ago, H. A. Hass was an instructor in pasteurizing in the college of agriculture at the University of Wisconsin. He had come to the university from northern Wisconsin.

About 1905 Mr. Hass decided to go into business for himself. He started in business in the Cardinal block at 706 University avenue in a modest way. Unlike the American Ice Cream Co. of the present time, Mr. Hass did not have a large roster of employes. He did most of the work himself.

With untiring zeal and energy, the business grew to a point where the old quarters would no longer take care of the business. In 1914 Mr. Hass built the present fine plant of the company at 525-527 University avenue.

H. A. HASS
(Proprietor)

It is a long jump from the little creamery on University avenue to the present plant. As the business has progressed Mr. Hass built up an organization that enabled him to take a European trip during the past summer when he was gone for several months. While Mr. Hass was gone the business was in charge of Ernest A. Johr, assistant manager, and E. O. Johr, head bookkeeper.

American ICE CREAM

Treat Your Family to the Popular American Ice Cream. Ice Cream is a Great Food.

Follow the American Ice Cream Signs

Take home a brick of American Ice Cream to the wife and kiddies.

You Are Invited To Inspect Our Plant At Any Time

THE plant of the American Ice Cream Co. in this city is one of the most modern, up-to-date plants of any city in the country of Madison's size. From the testimony of manufacturers who have visited the plant it is up to the minute in efficiency and neatness.

YOU and your friends, your school classes and social clubs are invited to pay us a call at any time. We would be more than glad to take you through this modern ice cream plant.

WE shall be glad to show you the ice cream machines which are fed from tanks of cream from the floor above through the gravity system. We shall show you the storage vaults that are maintained at a temperature of ten below zero and where the ice cream in bulk, in layers and in cakes is stored until ready for shipment. These vaults are cooled by the latest ammonia freezing system.

THE manufacture of ice cream is no hit and miss proposition these days. Years ago when the family had ice cream for the Sunday dinner, mother did the mixing and then father turned the crank. Nobody knew until it was dished out whether salt, ice or cream would predominate in the ingredients. Sometimes there would be competition to see who could find the most chunks of rock salt.

THE old, laborious method of making ice cream is a thing of the past. Those were the "dark ages of America's most popular dessert.

NOW you go to the nearest dealer and ask for American Ice Cream—"THE CREAM OF CREAMS."

Virginia Manchester has been chosen queen of the Wisconsin high school junior promenade and will lead the grand march with Gordon Dawson, prom chairman, next Saturday evening at 8:30 in the high school gymnasium.

This event is the only one of its kind of which Madison schools can boast. Spring decorations will be used.

The committees were selected some time ago. Alice Jackson will serve as chairman of the decoration committee and will have as her assistants Virginia Manchester, Betsy Jackson, John Nuzum, Kenneth Kellers, and Lyndon Chase. Acting as chairman of the orchestra committee will be Spencer Durand. His helpers wil be Kenneth Barton and Gladys Schmeltzer.

Henry Stevens is chairman of the program committee. Assisting him are Lorraine Brown and William Connop. The invitation committee consists of Jane Dudley Chairman, Jean Fish and Helen Sellery.

Here's a Story of Mr. Blimp And How He Kicked a Dog

This is one of the essays submitted to the Dane County Humane society in connection with the contest carried on by the society. It was written by Robert Cool, 12 years old. Robert is in the seventh A grade at Randall school.

Mr. Blimp got up very cross and started off to work. He had not gone very far before he met Mr. Reynolds walking down the street, and much to Mr. Blimp's disgust Mr. Reynolds seemed to be very happy. As if to express his disapproval, Mr. Blimp kicked a dog sleeping on the side walk.

"Here, Blimp, don't do that; you might have stepped over that dog," said Mr. Reynolds.

Mr. Blimp puffed angrily at his cigar and said, "How could I? Dogs have no right on the side-walk! and if they had, they all deserve kicks, they're regular pests."

"That one," replied Mr. Reynolds, "has just come from your chicken yard, where it was killing rats."

Just then up came a boy selling tickets to a ball the proceeds of which were to go to the "Dane County Humane Society." Mr. Reynolds bought three tickets.

"Ticket, sir?" asked the boy, turning to Mr. Blimp. Mr. Blimp looked the other way, and the boy passed on.

"You know, Blimp, animals aren't so bad," continued Mr. Reynolds kindly. "If treated right, all animals will willingly serve you, and they're pretty good servants to have too."

Mr. Blimp grunted.

"That boy was getting money for a Society that I think is about the worthiest of any club I know," remarked Mr. Reynolds.

"It's not bad at least," replied Mr. Blimp in an undertone.

"If you could understand that dog, he'd probably say: 'There's the man I was killing rats for. When I try to take a nap, he's the first one to kick me. If man would only be kind to animals, every one would be better off.'"

Mr. Blimp hung his head and after an abrupt "good bye," he hastened after the boy with the tickets.

"Here, five tickets!" he shouted.

Afterwards he walked gaily off to work, feeling much better for his interview with Mr. Reynolds.

Plans For Spring Fest For Children Completed

Plans for the spring festival which will open with a spectacular processional of more than 5,000 Madison school children have been made and the schools are at practice now. Mrs. Fannie Steve, physical education supervisor, will talk before the Junior Civic Council Thursday afternoon on the part that members of the leagues will play in this event.

School Boys Practice For Baseball Tourney

Elementary school boys have been practicing for the baseball tournament which will begin May 7. Rules for the games and the schedule are out.

Mary Jacobs To Speak To Teachers Monday

Miss Mary C. Jacobs, field secretary of the Wisconsin Kindergarten association, will address the councils of kindergarten and first grade teachers at Central high school Minday at 3:30 p. m.

Doty Pupils Will Give Costume Party Here

Doty eighth grade pupils gave a costume party last week for the freshmen who went into high school. Various kinds of games were played for entertainment. The entertainment committee consisted of Russel Hvam, Mary Winn, Alfred Wayts, and Marion McCoy. On the refreshment committee were Alice Bentley, Ina Noel, and Helen Crade. Pupils at Doty arepreparing for an exhibit of school work in the building. Various grades are taking outdoor trips and studying the birds in Brittingham park. They are making a study now preparatory to atrip to Vilas park to see the animals.

Hounds Chase Hares In S. G. A. Party Today

A regular old fashioned hare and hounds chase, with the hares going wildly over all sorts of country around Madison and the hounds trailing after them with all of the speed possible and an attempt to catch them before they reach their hiding place—that's what S. G. A. district number three is having this afternoon for their second district party, under the direction of Lorraine Moody '24.

All women in the district are to meet at Lathrop at 3 o'clock promptly. A slight charge will be made.

Specific directions have been sent to all of the women's houses in that district, which consists of W. Washington, W. Johnson, Orchard, Mound, Dayton, and N. and S. Mills streets.

The first district party, held March 10 in the form of a "Raggedy Anne" party, was so well attended that the committee decided to have these social gatherings of the women within the district frequently.

School Junior Citizens Plan Civics Council

Joint Meeting Of Emerson Groups Will Be Held On May 7

Junior Citizens in the various schools are active in spring work prior to the Junior Civic League Council meeting next Thursday at 2:30 p. m. in the Brayton school.

William T. Evjue, editor of The Capital Times, will speak on "The Making of a Newspaper" before the joint meeting of the Emerson seventh and eighth grade leagues Monday, May 7. These leagues have had definite projects to study this winter. The eighth grade took up the study of the situation in Europe and the seventh grade studied manufacturing processes in Madison and made trips to various establishments.

Brayton Junior Citizens from the sixth, seventh, and eighth grades had a meeting to talk over safety plans for the playgrounds. They have worked out schemes whereby a patrol or traffic system will be in effect in the morning, recess periods, at the time of dismissal of the lower grades, noon, and evening.

Two traffic men are stationed on the corner of Washington avenue and Butler street and one on East Main and Butler street corner. Besides watching the older people for lay walking and other careless habits, these policemen conduct the little children across the street when they go or come from home.

At the recess period there is just one on duty to watch the roads.

Each of the upper grades has organized a safety council to which the traffic men report violations. Inside of the building there is one boy and girl on duty downstairs and two boys in the upper halls.

The league has bought armbands of blue and red, school colors. An eighth grade boy is working on the letters, B. P. which stand for Brayton police, and the girls will sew them on the felt. Sixth graders are making stop signs.

Clarence Thompson is chief of police. Other policemen are Richard Goodrich, Richard Lamp, Gustave Verges, Helen Miller, Sadie Bostick, Earl Conroy, and Marion Balsley.

Harvey Junior Civic league met Friday afternoon at 2:30. A debate on the resolution that France was justified in entering the Ruhr valley was held. Affirmative speakers were Russell Sorenson, Hazel Goodlad, Marjorie Swafford, Dudley Johnson, and Emily Blenis. Those on the negative side were Ethel Smyth, Gus Rubado, Robert Weigli, Pansy Blossom, and Holger Toftoy. Acting as judges were Helen Sharatt, Irene Roissum, William Backus, John Williams, and Alice Peterson.

After discussing the finance problems and other business in the club, a program was given, Marjorie Swafford gave a reading, "The Middle Child." A piano solo, "The Butterfly," was presented by Helen Rott. A quartette sang "Love's Old Sweet Song," with guitar and violin accompaniment. Gus Rubado played the violin and Pansy Blossom the guitar.

St. Raphael Junior Citizens appoint monitors to look after the lockers in the halls and see that they are closed. They are trying to enforce better ranks in dismissal. A particular duty emphasized by them is to be quiet on Henry street because of the proximity of the Methodist hospital. At time of dismissal they get away from it as quickly and quietly as possible. The Junior Citizens also emphasize good order on the streets. A traffic system is employed because of the heavy traffic on West Washington avenue.

Washington policemen this week are William Karberg, Edith Kinnerud, and Ueda Parsons.

Seventh and eighth grade people at Doty were working for a Junior Civics meeting this week. Several committees were at work. The committee on the constitution and by laws consisted of Elizabeta Grimm, Earl Wise, Mary Slightam, Violet Gundlach, and Myrtle Small. For entertainment in the meetings the committee was Beryl Slightam, Joseph Garey, and Mary Winn. The school ground committee was made up of Robert Bennett, Lorraine Demarest, Earl Wise, and Sidney Knope.

Lincoln Junior Citizens take charge of tardiness. A vigilance committee, consisting of Leonard Nelson and Raphael McCann this week, rounds up the people. For order in the halls each grade has a boy and girl in charge. The league has charge of games and ball playing in that children are kept off the road and lawn.

Longfellow Junior Citizens planned to have their meeting Thursday. St. James people are doing nothing special in this work. They are planning an all school program for the middle of May.

At St. Bernard's the Junior Citizens are cleaning up the yards and raking the grass. They are preparing for a flower garden this week. They will plant a tree. Robert Hyland is president, and Raphael Domini is delegate.

Draper seventh grade Junior Civic league will give a program Wednesday afternoon. At that time members of the seventh grade league will give reports to the eighth grade on their visit to the Forest Products laboratory. They will also give reports on the police department. Members have learned the Athenian oath. A police system is employed in this school also. Three boys, George Pankella, Roger Newby, and Harold Anderson, have charge of the halls. Frances Lamanoco watches the front stairs. On the grounds policemen are Fred Mohs, Julia Wigonitz, George Icke, and Harriet Gleason.

School grounds are being cleaned up by the Junior Citizens at Marquette. Officers of both sixth and seventh grades meet every Thursday and discuss ways for the betterment of the school. Just at present they are conducting a courtesy drive among themselves and the pupils of the lower grades. They have been studying the lives of great statesmen and also the manufacturing processes and the government of Madison as their project.

Time Extended In Essay Contest On School Names

Time has been extended on the Capital Times essay contest on how the various schools happened to receive their names because of the conflict with the Dane County Humane Society contest. All essays for the elementary school contest must be in the office by Wednesday evening by 4 o'clock.

Man yessays of high merit have already been handed in and it will be difficult to choose the best one. Word limit is 500 and neatness of the page is included in the grading.

The Capital Times will print the prize essay and some of the other good ones.

Boys Drill In LowellSchool--But With Hoes!

Students Stage Clever Operetta Called "The Posy Bed

At the Lowell school pupils gave an operetta entitled "The Posy Bed" Wednesday afternoon in a children's matinee and Thursday evening at 7:45 for the grown-ups.

The entertainment opened with a garden drill by sixth grade boys all dressed up in overalls and bandannas. They carried hoes. The boys were Earl Ahrensmeyer, Harold Borquist, Amund Erlindsen, Sterling Kingston, Robert Kolstad, William Layoiz, Otto Marks, Lee Phillips, Claude Reigle, Murrell Rogers, Fred Simon, Edwin Sperley, Frank Wolfe, Robert Anderson, Clarence Hovle, Claire Jacobsen, Wesley Kelly, Gerald Kindschi, Stanley Meier, George Radke and Mitchell Vogel.

Then the fifth grade girls planted the seeds. Evelyn Kuul, Margaret Kracht, Olga Dahl and Elmira Davis took solo parts as garden girls. Madeline Hinrichson, Clara Schara, Pearl Christopherson, Kathleen Bearbower, Margaret Zink, Alma Johnson, Adeline Clarke, Maude Reigle, Hazel Halverson, Alice Graves, Geraldine Welch, Rosalin Rutesill, Melva Loftsgordon and Melba Marty made up the chorus.

Pussy Willows in silver gray jackets came tout before the flowers started to grow. Pussy willows were the following first grade pupils: Gordon Johnson, Harold Chandler, Stanley Nichols, Leo Vinje, Harry Edie, Fern Arnold, Marion Bearbower, Junior Davis, Maurice Bakken, Donald Dega and William Everson. Wayne Johnson from the fourth grade took the pussy willow solo part.

Posies began to grow. Just like real spring the daffodils came first. Daffodils were first grade girls, Anna Austin, Marcella Schmidt, Mildred Jacobsen, Rae Kidd, Lagotha Mahnke, Helen McAusland, Ida Bolitho, Gladys Issman, Gladys Meuhlenbruck, Carol Hockett and Ethel Hilden. The daffodil lady was Thelma Turk from the fourth grade.

After the daffodils came the buttercup and daisy. Rose Nichols was the daisy and Gladys Borquist the buttercup. Next after them was the dandelion dance and all the little dandelions were Richard Buckley, Leonard Hovle, George Raatz, Robert Randle, Ralph Schmeidlin, Harry Sweitzer, Vernon Vogel, Melvin Scheib, Bernice Boyum, Katherine Bull, Ariel Day, Maxine Hoffman, Gladys Kocker, Viola Lawrence, Blanch Marison and Grace Schultz. They were second grade people.

Marguerites were the next flowers to grow in the posy bed. They were Margaret Sainer, Stanley Brown, Basil Lendburg, Marvin Thorhoug, Lyle Wiggen, Ethel Buergen, Ruth Ahrensmeyer, Chester Shaw, Alida Gerfen, Helen Richardson, Paul Larsen, Ethel Loftsgordon, Merwin Nichols, Vera Hinrichs and Marvin Blood from the third grade. Evelyn Derleth gave a solo dance.

Little butterflies flitted into the garden. They were Marion Gibson, Madeline Hill, Beatrice Meyers, Florence Schunning, Dorothy Schuitz, Evelyn Zink and Janet Reimer all from the kindergarten.

Then the flower chorus consisting of many kinds of posies sang. Marjorie Crare, Florence Jeffrott, Charlotte Tronong, Marie Everson, Georgine Swenson, Alta Sawyer, Elsie Berken were these flowers. The Johnny-jump-up, Elwood Bakken, and the crickets, Arvold Glen and Wolbert Flagstad, from the second grade, hopped in. The various flowers together with the daffodil, daisy, and buttercup danced a gavotte. Then the marguerite called her cousin the sunflower, Evelyn Kuul.

Here the king, the pansy blossom in his purple robes, entered with his pages. Richard Riley was the king and James Beck and William Edland his pages. Then a Dutch maid with her clattering wooden shoes and three white goslings entered. She was appointed queen, Marie Schantz. Her geese were Catherine Clark, Phyllis Anderson, and Dorothy Kolstad.

A lot of boys and girls with bouquets and wreaths sang "Merry Month of May." They were Arline Ahrensmeyer, Charlotte Ahrensmeyer, Phillip Alwin, Mildred Harder, Sidney Boyum, Esther Swenson, Henry Bundy, Henry Nauman, Orville Shantz, Hazel Loftsgordon, Eugene Hanford, Edwin Voss, Dorothy Fosdick, Arline Barron, and Margaret Pierce.

Mistress Mary, who was Margaret Kracht, sang. Three little brown birds from the kindergarten, Theodore Bast, Leland Wilkinson, and Harry Briggs, hopped around and chattered. Poppies red, Gladys Fehlan, Merlyn Nicks, Bertha Thele, Orville Molbreak, Helen Ahrensmeyer, Marion Hoffman and Felma Davies came into the garden. Yellow poppies were Bernice Ellestad and Eleanor Sauthoff.

May pole dancers were sixth grade girls. They were Genevieve Bareis, Althea Clark, Merna Everson, Helen Flagstad, Ruth Genske, Berneice Harda, Bessie Ladwig, Marguerite Mahnke, Lillian Meyer, Rose Sainer, La Verne Schantz, Agnes Schaefer, Frances Hoffman, Annette Jacobsen, Geraldine Kindschi, Gladys Olson and Marian Insle.

Central High Girl Students Stage Vodvil

Show Will Be Presented Tonight; Award Athletic Honors

Central high school Girls' Student club will present a vaudeville show in the school auditorium tonight beginning at 8:15 o'clock. Nancy Hull is the general chairman in charge of the program. She is also taking part with Richard Brayton in Impersonations, feature. E. Betty Morgan is her assistant. Acting as advertising managers are Richard Brayton and Virginia Dodge. Humidity of the atmosphere in the Central High School is on the average the same as that of the Sahara Desert or Death Valley. This data has been collected by the physics department and has been plotted by a student, Dorothy Page, who is taking math. 9 A. As stated by the health department the humidity should be around 55 or 60% while at the present time hovers near 23%.

Wallace Wilson will act as reporter with Nancy Hull for the Capital Times school pace.

Pictures of noted scientists and mathematicians have been placed upon the bulletin board by the Mathematics department who has charge of the board during the month of April.

Thirteen Schools Compete Here In Commercial Test

Thirteen schools competed in the annual district commercial contest held in the Central high school today. Two representatives from each of the schools were entered in each of the events. The three winners in each event will represent the district at the state commercial contest at Whitewater, May 12. Schools entered were Lodi, Dodgeville, Cambridge, Waunakee, Prairie du Sac, Sauk City, Stoughton, Middleton, Mt. Horeb, Verona, Sun Prairie and Madison East Side and Central high schools. The events include beginning typing, advanced typing, shorthand, mental calculation and penmanship.

Woman's Club to Honor Joseph Roberts; May Day Events Crowd Social Calendar

Program Will Celebrate 85th Birthday of Parliamentarian

By ROWENA BROWN

IN women's organizations, where the temptation to chat is strongest, parliamentary rules are most necessary. In many an instance, "Robert's Rules of Order" has saved the situation, as the program of the Woman's club next Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Woman's building will reveal. This meeting will honor the anniversary of the birth of Joseph Thomas Roberts, parliamentarian, who will attain his eighty-fifth year Wednesday.

In a monthly meeting of the Madison Art guild Saturday afternoon at 2:30 in the studio of the Woman's building, Mrs. Howard Smith, president, will instruct the guild in a similar program.

Of the two plays presented on the Woman's club program, the first is entitled "A Business Meeting Given by Ten Club Ladies," written by Arlo Bates. It is a humorous sketch, which indicates how a business meeting can degenerate into a neighborhood affair when no parliamentary rules prevail. In the cast are Mrs. G. W. Levis, Mrs. B. C. Parkinson, Mrs. Joel Harley, Mrs. Walter E. Miller, Mrs. Arthur Wellman and Mrs. W. D. Curtis, Mrs. B. D. Waite, Mrs. H. J. W. Clark, C. P. Norgord, and Mrs. A. E. Smith.

In contrast, the playlet which follows, written by three Madison club women, Mrs. J. A. Aylward, Mrs. L. W. Claude and Mrs. C. F. Lamb, represents a business meeting at which much business is transacted in a very short space of time. In the cast are the past presidents of the club who are in the city at the present time. They are: Mrs. W. S. Main, Mrs. R. G. Thwaites, Mrs. H. W. Chynoweth, Mrs. H. B. Hobbins, Mrs. C. S. Sheldon, Mrs. C. E. Buell, Mrs. J. A. Aylward, Mrs. R. H. Richards, Mrs. L. W. Claude and Mrs. C. F. Lamb.

Music will be furnished by Mrs. Morton O. Withey singing two songs. The hostesses will be Mrs. Charles F. Lamb and Mrs. E. R. [illegible].

Grace Cantwell Becomes Bride Of Dr. Crane

Nuptial High Mass Will Be Performed On May Day

EARLY May-day morning at nuptial high mass in the sanctuary of St. Patrick's church, one of the most interesting weddings of the season will be performed when Miss Grace Cantwell, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Cantwell, who established one of the oldest and most prominent families active in shaping Madison's history, becomes the bride of Dr. R. Emmet Kane, St. Louis.

The first May bride of the year and the groom will be attended only by their brothers, the Rev. Edward Cantwell, Detroit, Mich., and Rev. J. J. Kane, Grand Rapids, at the altar with Rev. P. B. Knox.

The wedding will be attended only by intimate friends and relatives of the principals. Mr. and Mrs. Charles O'Neill, brother and sister of the bride, have been the chief hosts at recent functions complimenting Miss Cantwell. Major and Mrs. E. A. Fitzpatrick also entertained a week ago at a formal dancing party for the bride.

Following the wedding a bridal breakfast will be served at the Madison club, when the young people will leave for a trip before establishing their residence at St. Louis.

Senior Girls In Swingout Here May 25

Annual University Event Will Form Colorful Spectacle

AT sunset May 25, the senior women of the university, garbed in black caps and gowns, will march up the hill to the strains of "On Wisconsin" followed by members of the sophomore and freshmen classes acting as guards of honor, passing between rows of white-clad juniors, bearing daisy chains. When they reach the top of the hill, their line of march will involve some elaborate figures, and then break for the farewell address.

This ceremony is called "Senior Swingout," and marks the formal tribute paid to the graduating seniors by the underclass women. It has long since become a university tradition expressing homage and farewell, and is always celebrated late in May.

Lois Jacobs, '24, and Janet Marshall, '24, are the co-chairmen in charge of this eighth annual swing-out.

"Senior swingout is one of the most impressive traditional events of the university, and we have appointed the committees working for it early, to insure everything going off the best possible way," said Lois Jacobs in announcing the names of those appointed to various committees.

After the regular line of march, the usual May pole dance and aesthetic dancing inviting the audience to the Dance Drama which closes the festivities.

The university band will play for college songs.

Announcements of the elections to Mortar Board, the senior women's honorary society, will be made. These elections, based on the scholarship, womanliness, and capabilities for leadership are annually awarded to about 10 senior girls.

Dean F. Louise Nardin passes the torch of knowledge to the president of Blue Dragon, the senior women's class organization, as a symbol of the new responsibility. "Varsity" sung by the girls, completes the impressive ceremony.

The committees for this year's swing out are as follows:

Arrangements: Rosamond Nolte, '24, general chairman; Helen Haswell, '24, daisy chain; Maurine Hall, '24, line of march; Margaret Henry, '24, Maypole dance.

Program: Dorothy Simpson, '24, general chairman; Evelyn Smith '24, and Pauline Newell, '24.

English majors must have 15 instead of 12 hours of education courses, beginning with next June, in order to fulfill state requirements and to secure a life certificate to teach, it was announced at a meeting in Bascom hall yesterday.

For a first license they may have a minimum of six hours in education courses and may make up the balance later. The university teachers certificate requirement has been 15 hours in education since 1919.

The departmental requirements are English 90 and 91 for major and 90 for minors. To graduate, majors must either take a grammar examination or English 123.

Prof. Sterling A. Leonard who addressed the meeting, stressed the importance of education A, which is a course in actual experience of English teaching.

English majors who do not intend to teach need take no education courses, Professor Leonard explained.

* * *

The annual spring concert of Clef club which was held last evening in Music auditorium at 8 o'clock, was a success which showed considerable talent on the part of the musicians and excellent training, though the playing was somewhat mechanical throughout.

Norma Schoen was the outstanding figure of the program with her artistic violin playing and exquisite tone production. She played Handel's Largo, Romanza-Andalusa by Sarosate and a Spanish dance by Rehfeld. It is to be regretted that Miss Schoen's stage presence detracted a little from her music. She was recalled twice.

Vera Eastman opened the program with a prelude in D flat major by W[illegible] and prelude in D minor [illegible] MacDowell. Miss Eastman's [illegible] was delightful. She [illegible] considerable talent but her [illegible] was rather mechanical.

[illegible] Neckerman sang Puccini's Aria from La Boheme—Michiamano Mimi, with great beauty. Her delicate soprano voice showed to greater advantage in the climax when she [illegible] it out to its fullest volume.

It was a delight to hear Martha Chandler's rich contralto voice again. She sang three numbers by Franz, Out of My Soul's Great Sorrow, Goodnight, and St[illegible] Frries Shrieking.

The program closed with a [illegible] tentious two piano number, Saint Saens' Scherzo from Concert in A minor with Jeanet Breitenbach at the first piano and Frances [illegible] at the second piano.

TOMAH — George McMullen recently delivered here a young Holstein bull which weighed 2,180 pounds.

SHAWANO — The contract for paving several blocks here was awarded to F. P. Caughlin & Co., Chicago. The work is to be done by June 30.

Why Home Building Cost You More Money Today

Stark Lester Says Homes Are Costing More Because People Are Demanding More

Whenever the building edition was discussed people would ask: "Why is it that a home costs so much more today than it did years ago? Why way back years ago....." and the speaker would tell how he built for such and such a price.

The Times reporter decided to put it right up to Stark Lester of the Doyon & Rayne Lumber Co., for Stark has been in the lumber business for a long time, and we figured he could give us a little inside information.

Wherever the building edition was discussed people would ask: "Why is it that a home costs so much more today than it did years ago. Why way back years ago—' and the speaker would tell how he built for such and such a price.

The Times reporter decided to put it right up to Stark Lester of the Doyon & Rayne Lumber Co., for Stark has been in the lumber business for a long time, and we figured he could give us a little inside information.

"Well," said Stark, "it's true that building materials do cost a little more than they did 10 or 20 years ago. Everything that goes into a home is higher and has gone up in price like other things. But the big basement with a dirt floor. The trouble is that many people try to build on too big a scale. If people would be satisfied to begin on a more modest plan they could get by cheaper."

"Just what do you mean by a more modest plan," we asked.

"In the olden days people would build just a home without the modern conveniences. Their original costs would not be so much. Then later they would install these other things as they could afford them. Today, people insist in putting all these conveniences into their buildings as they build them. It is these improvements which boost the cost of the house."

"Just what are these conveniences that people are installing which they did not install twenty years ago?" we inquired.

He replied, "let's start in with the basement. Years ago people used to be satisfied with a small wall was usually made of stone and it ran about two feet into the basement. Today people want a full basement with a concrete floor and drain. This means that they have to have a full stone wall running to the bottom of the basement. They used to heat with small stoves. Now they have a furnace. People are demanding laundry tubs but in the years gone by when homes were so cheap women were using tubs in the kitchen. Besides these improvements we have coal bins and vegetable cellars in our basements. One more difference. People used to carry their water from pumps in pails. Today they have their electrical pumps in the basement to lift the hot and cold water thruout the house. They used to have tubs to catch the water. Today they have cisterns.

"Then take the kitchen. In years gone by the kitchens were built pretty bare. Today people want their built-in kitchen cabinets, ironing boards and other things.

Another difference is the floor. Today people want hardwood floors thruout where 6 inch floors used to be common. Another feature is that people are going in for the "built-in" furniture, such as buffets, breakfast nooks, cook cases, medicine cabinets and seats. These are fine but they cost money. They really save a person from buying furniture but it too is figured into the cost of a house.

People used to read by lamps. Now they have electric light thruout. The wiring and fixtures cost money too. But no home wants to do without them and I don't blame them.

In other ways the standard has increased. People are putting in sun parlors, fancy stairways, sleeping porches, French doors and windows, linen closets and mirror doors.

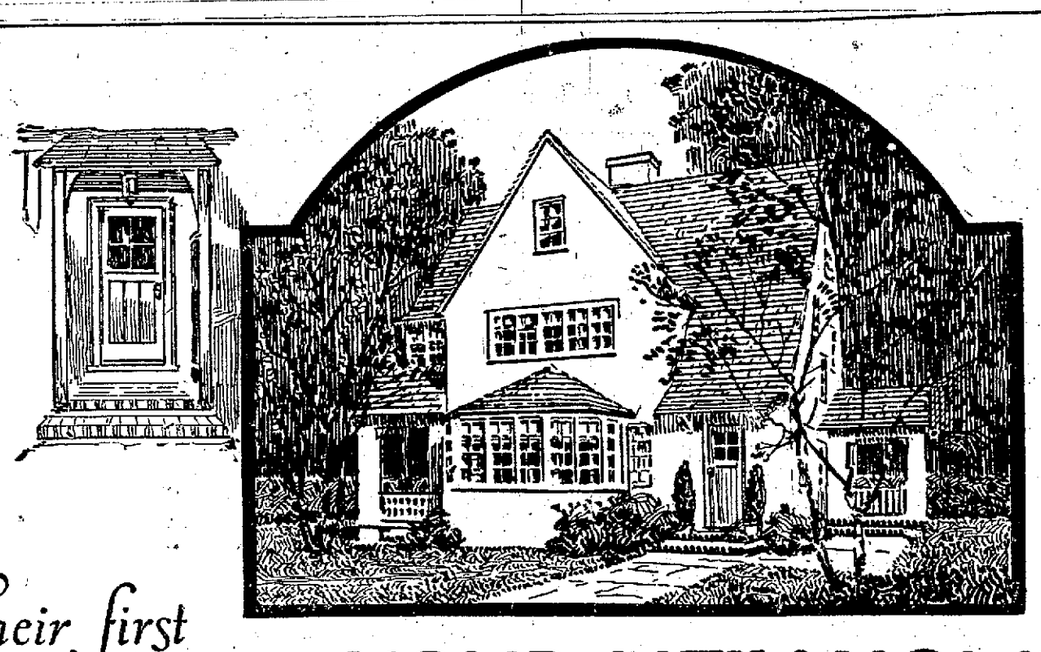

Years ago bath rooms did not exist in homes. Today we have them and it costs considerable to fix up a bath room with the requirements of the people building.

In years gone by the attics were left unfinished. Today in most homes they are finished off. People used to be satisfied with ordinary shingles. Today they want them painted or colored and this of course costs a little extra. Another thing is the demand for fireplaces. People demand the best and this costs money.

In fact the rough lumber is the smallest part of the cost. The people demand so much more than their parents did. That's the biggest reason why houses cost more than they did 20 years ago."

"Well, but Stark dont you think that these improvements are worth everything they cost? Don't you think they make life happier?"

"Absolutely. But wen people figure on the cost of a house it is these improvements which cost them the real difference in what they used to pay. They are worth the price and people have to pay for them. A lot of people who feel they cannot afford to build can afford it if they are willing to start in on a small scale."

Their first glimpse AT YOUR NEW HOME

TEN thousand people may pass your house where but one enters in. The passers-by get only a glimpse at its beauty. What pride will you know if even they admire it!

The front entrance bids a hospitable welcome. The porch tells of its owner's love for the out-of-doors. The windows give an insight into his good taste. The cornice may add a touch that wins praise. Dormers, bays, and shutters bring comfort and joy to the interior and add interest and beauty to the outside.

We make it possible for you, through our co-operation with the manufacturers of standardized Curtis Woodwork, to build a beautiful home with as few as 3 rooms, or with as many as 8.

Curtis Woodwork consists of those exterior and interior architectural details for homes that add distinction and character to a house and raise it above the ordinary.

Many different standard designs of Curtis Woodwork are photographically illustrated in our Curtis Catalog, which you can see in our office any time. This book will give you many suggestions for adding beauty, comfort and convenience to your home.

The architects, Trowbridge & Ackerman, of New York, foremost authorities in their profession, and the designers of many of America's most beautiful homes, translated into Curtis Standard Designs the best that the past and present day architecture offer. The result is woodwork of beauty as well as of good materials and skillful construction.

Would you like to see some houses and plans that show the beauty, comfort and convenience of Curtis Woodwork?

At your request we will obtain for you, free, a portfolio of "Better Built Homes." If you are interested in 3-, 4- or 5-room houses, you will want portfolio VI; if you desire a home of 6, 7 or 8 rooms, we will obtain portfolio VII for you. Or perhaps you will find portfolio VIII, which shows houses particularly adapted to farm use, of help to you. Each portfolio contains exterior and interior illustrations, floor plans, and complete descriptions of 32 houses; 8 of them are pictured in colors and others are illustrated from photographs. Homes of four different architectural types—Colonial, English, Western and Southern—are shown, from which you can make your selection. Surely among these many designs you will find just the home you want—the home of your dreams.

Come in and see us soon, and we'll tell you about our free plan service to homebuilders. We take the guesswork out of homebuilding and make it a real pleasure.

Council Votes East Side Hospital Site

Louise Dunlop, Once City Carnival Queen, Weds Today

Louise Dunlop

THIS afternoon at 4 o'clock in Christ Presbyterian church Miss Louise Dunlop, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Dunlop, 2210 Mound street, was married to Frederick Luetscher, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Leutscher, 223 North Livingston street, by the Rev. George E. Hunt.

The bride, formerly a student at the university, a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority, and who was chosen beauty queen of the first winter carnival of the city, was attended only by Miss Caryl Sents, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Sents, 10 West Johnson street. The duties of best man were attended to by William J. Fish.

Miss Dunlop was gowned in white lambskin crepe, wore a large white hat brightened with orchid and French blue taffeta trimming, and carried a shower bouquet of roses. Miss Bents wore rose canton crepe and a corsage of orchids, sweet peas and roses.

The altar of the church and the reception room had been decorated by intimate friends of the bride, who comprised the small audience witnessing the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Leutscher left immediately for a trip in the East, by way of Chicago and will return to Madison within a few weeks, to be at home in the Oakland apartments after June 1.

Agric Triangle To Hear Elsom Here On Sunday

Prof. J. C. Elsom of the physical education department will address members of Agric Triangle on the subject "Plays and Games for Play Days," at the meeting of Agric Triangle in the S. G. A. room of Lathrop hall at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Mr. Elsom has conducted a detailed study of community recreation problems, and has many new games to contribute to the collection of community recreational stunts now in the possession of the organization. Indoor games for rainy days will be particularly emphasized.

"Since the chances of rain during the play days are great in the spring, every member of Agric Triangle is urged to attend the meeting Sunday morning," declared Art Hagen '24, president of the club. Members will thus prepare themselves for any emergency that may arise during a play day.

Home Economics students and members of Prof. J. H. Kolbs rural life class are invited to the meeting. Eighteen members of the course in rural life have signed for play days that are to be conducted under the auspices of Agric Triangle.

U. S. Firm On Turk Privilege

Declares Rights Assured To Foreigners Have Not Been Killed

(By the Associated Press)
LAUSANNE—The United States takes the position that rights assured to foreigners in Turkey under the capitulation treaties were not legally terminated by the action of the sublime Porte in declaring the agreements no longer in effect.

Joseph C. Grew, head of the American delegation at the Near East conference expressed this view in a statement before the political committee yesterday. Mr. Grew was supported by Sir Horace Rumbold, head of the British delegation, who said that the recognition of an abrogation would mean that the Turks could collect back taxes fro mforeign nationals.

"The Chester concession is a very good concession," Ismet Pasha said in an interview today. "We are glad to have American capital in Turkey; we need it for the development of our country."

He saw no reason why the concession should come before the Lausanne conference.

Lenroot Out For Harding's World Court

Endorsement Is Duty U. S. Owes Europe, He Declares

(By the Associated Press)
SAN FRANCISCO — U. S. Senator Irving Lenroot, in an address here yesterday, endorsed Pres. Harding's plan for the United States to enter the League of Nations world court. The issue, he said, was not political but rather an American question which should be considered by the senate without regard for political affiliations.

Endorsement of the court, he declared, is a duty that America owes to Europe, adding that it would be a step toward world peace and the adjudication of international disputes.

To Begin Building This Fall

Council Votes $14,000 For Purchase; Ask Street Car Case Action

WHAT COUNCIL DID

Voted to purchase $14,000 isolation hospital site on E. Washington ave.

Approved building of the Wiedenbeck-Dobelin garage.

Approved request of city attorney that the street railway controversy be reopened.

Re-referred recommendation for a new pumper to replace No. 2 truck to fire and water committee.

Will advertise for bids for construction of new caretakers cottage at Monona park.

Referred resolution for additional parking space on E. Washington ave. to street committee.

Instructed city auditor to pay $31,500 for new sewage disposal site.

Voted to turn over $600 to Dane County Humane society.

By AL HEIN

The E. Washington ave. isolation hospital site will be purchased by the city and construction of the new hospital probably started this fall.

The council last night voted to accept the report of the board of health and ordered that the city auditor be instructed to draw $14,000 from the city treasurer and open negotiations.

The land is that adjacent to the present hospital on the east and consists of 16 lots. The resolution carried by 18 to 2, Ald. Joseph L. Starr, and George Fessler voting against the site but not the hospital. The figure accepted is considerably less than the first price set on the land by Julia Powers, owner.

Open Railway Probe

The condemnation suit started by Roman A. Heilman, city attorney, will be dropped as result of the acceptance of the new offer.

Reopening of the street railway controversy was asked by Roman Heilman, city attorney, for the purpose of informing him on what steps to be taken at the increased rate hearing which will be held before the rate commission May 7—9. A report of the special committee, which was indefinitely postponed last fall, will be brought to the attention of the council at a special meeting next Friday evening.

The committee report relieved the railway company from all future paving of the street car zones, with the understanding that double-tracks be laid on University ave. and E. Johnson st. The city reserved the right to purchase the line.

The matter of the purchase of a new pumper was sent back to the fire and water committee upon its request that since its meeting need of a ladder truck was pointed out to them by aldermen of the sixth ward.

Approve Farm Deal

Bids for a new caretakers cottage at Monona Park will be advertised for by the city clerk. Material of the old cottages will be used in the construction.

The question of using the E. Washington ave. boulevard strip from Butler to Blair for parking space was referred to the street committee. Ald. George Breitenbach fathered the resolution. A resolution by George Fessler, asking to change the avenue to a boulevard, was referred to the same committee.

The council ordered payment of $31,500 to the William Weber and Theodore Christianson farm owners selected as a site for the new sewage disposal plant site.

Ald. D. C. Sullivan was upheld in his request that the $600 provided for in the 1923 budget be turned over to the Dane County Humane society.

Can Build Garage

The block bounded by W. Washington ave., Mound and Lake sts. was voted closed for the evening of May 10 for use of the Neighborhood House for purpose of an outdoor celebration.

Building of the Wiedenbeck-Dobelin garage at W. Washington ave. and Bedford street will be allowed by the city council which voted not to indefinitely postpone changing of the zoning ordinance from light industrial to residential as recommended by the city plan commission. Order to issue a building permit to the company will probably be received by the building commissioner today and the permit issued immeditely upon application.

William Ryan, former city attorney, appearing for the company, stated that the company was only conforming with the former uses to which the property had been devoted in past years.

Pommerening Freed In Van Dyne Action

Judge Holds He Did Not Draw Check With Fraud Intention

(By the Associated Press)
FOND DU LAC, Wis.—E. C. Pommerening, former secretary and treasurer of the Van Dyne Co-operative association and former head of the Wisconsin union of the American Society of Equity, charged with the embezzlement of approximately $703 of the associations funds, was freed in municipal court here late yesterday. Judge Henry M. Fellenz holding that the evidence did not support the charge brought by J. J. Lamb.

The defense contended that although Pommerening did draw a check for $703 for his own use, he did not do so with intent to defraud the Van Dyne association.

Eight Building Permits Call For $37,000 Work

Building permits totaling $37,000 were issued at the city hall today for eight dwellings. John Ahl received the largest for a two story flat building at 1236 Drake st., to cost about $10,000. Permits for residences were issued to Sachtjen and Coles, 2509 E. Dayton st., $5,000; Lester Thayer, Union st., $2,000; Adolph Habich, Union st., $2,000; Arthur Albright, Winnebago st., $2,000; John Link, 2322 E. Dayton st., $7,000; Adam Reining, two residences, 1013 and 1001 Willard st., $4,000 and $5,000, respectively.

CHILD'S STORY OF THE HUMAN RACE

By Ramon Coffman "Uncle Ray"

Chapter 11—Mighty Hunters of Long Ago.

People must have quivered at the bare mention of some of the fierce wild beasts which infested Europe in the earliest part of the Stone Age. This was because their weapons were poor. After the stone-pointed spear was invented, however, men began to hunt for animals which had before made them afraid.

How can we tell what animals were most often killed? By heaps of bones which have been preserved.

In the island of Sicily have been found the bones of great numbers of hippopotamuses. These animals once lived even farther north, but the cold weather at the time of the last glacier drove them southward. The people of Sicily certainly liked the meat of the hippopotamuss. In one cave, the bones of about 2,000 were found!

The remains of thousands of cave-bears, cave-lions and bison have been dug out of various caves in Europe. The deer was also a favorite food. Notice the hunter in the picture today. He is preparing to kill one of the giant moose-like deer which grazed in southern Europe long ago.

Stone Age hunters had to be very quiet as they crept up to their prey.

Even mammoths were sometimes killed by Stone Age hunters. Such huge beasts could hardly have been slain in the open. It is believed pits were dug and covered over with branches and shrubbery. When a mammot hcame along, it might tumble in. Then the hunters could kill it by hurling spears into its body and striking its head with large stones.

Among the most interesting heaps of bones are those left in France near the city of Lyons, at the site of an open-air camp. Strewn over a large area were the bones of bison, reindeer, and, above all, wild horses.

The heaps were six feet deep in some spots. It is estimated that the bones of 100,000 horses were found!

What feasting must have gone on at that camp! Probably the hunters gathered there each summer from far and wide. They sat around great fires, roasting the meat. When they had chewed away to the bone, they would split it open to get at the marrow. Then they would seize another hunk of meat to roast. Of course they all ate with their hands. They wouldn't have known what a fork was for.

As the hunters ate, there must have been much wild singing, shouting and dancing.

BOMBS OF MIRTH EXPLODE IN COMEDY

HAROLD LLOYD STARS IN GLOOM CHASER

Harold Lloyd in his first seven reel comedy sensation will play at the Majestic and the Madison theaters for one week starting Sunday.

Harold Lloyd is the laughter dynamiter of the age. He causes rusty laugh glands and frozen faces to blow up and set off bombs of mirth for miles around. He attaches an infectious fuse of joy to the diaphragm and hedeosn't have to wait long for the explosion. It is inevitable.

Put the outstanding thrills of all the serials ever produced together and they would probably—end to end—reach from the Atlantic to the Pacific, but they would not give such hair-raising, laughable, mirth-raising moments of thrills as are contained in "Safety Last."

"Safety Last" also tells a delightfully human story—the romance of a boy and a girl. It shows what havoc a little white lie—all for the cause of Cupid—can cause. There are scenes in a department store that are rich with satire. In fact, "Safety Last" brings laughter first that lasts forever after.

Last times today at the Majestic is Pola Negri in "Bella Donna." At the Madison, "Adam's Rib," closes its engagement tonight.

"TURN TO THE RIGHT" OPENS HERE

There is a laugh in every line and a thrill or tear in every five in "Turn To The Right," the comedy which comes to the Orpheum all next week starting tomorrow and presented by the Dorothy La Vern Stock Company.

It abounds in sweet sentiment and honest heart appeal. The authors' treatment of a deeply spiritual theme is so ingenious in its adroit and contrasting situations as to give the play a niche with "Twin Beds," "Fair and Warmer," and other swift-moving comedies. All of which is a grossly inadeqate outline of the action of this consumately clever play.

The wittiness of the lines, the more than humor of the situations, the eternal motherliness of its golden-hearted Mother Bascom, the refreshing winsomeness of the country lasses, the breezy crookedness of the two jolly crooks, transformed by the alchemy of their new environment into real business men "on the level"—all this must be seen, not described.

"A DANGEROUS ADVENTURE" IS COMING

Viola Dana in "Love in the Dark," and Loken Bros.' Style Revue will be seen at the Parkway for the last times tonight. The Style Revue is a unique and unusual novelty for Madison audiences. Twenty beautiful living models promenade about the stage and over the runway into the audience.

Tomorrow for the one day only Grace Darmond will be seen in "A Dangerous Adventure," a thrilling and sensational picture of adventure in wildest Africa. "A Dangerous Adventure," on account of the plot is easily the peer of all animal pictures yet screened. "Crash," a Cameo Comedy, the Pathe Review and the latest Kinograms news events complete the bill.

Seats are now on sale at the Parkway box office for Taylor Holes in "The Rear Car," which comes Monday night only. "The Rear Car" is the greatest mystery play let. There are still a few good seats available.

Tuesday, Rupert Hughes' comedy "Gimme" will be the attraction. The much heralded picture "Brass" opens next Saturday.

THRILLING AFRICAN PICTURE IS COMING

The degree to which soldiers of the Spanish crown weretaught to hate Cuban patriots, in the black days before that country's emancipation from tyrannical oppression, is vividly illustrated on the screen at the Strand theater last times today in the John S. Robertson picture version of Joseph Hergesheimer's The Bright Shawl, in which Richard Barthelness stars.

As a special added feature there will also be shown round four of H. C. "Fighting Blood," with Joe Rivers.

Starting Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson's "Trailing African Wild Animals."

The Story of An Artist's Wife

As Told to Grace Phelps

THE HONEYMOONERS ARRIVE AT BAREN ISLAND.

We bumped along over the rough road that was the main street of Land's End, which the fishing village was appropriately called. The small frame houses straggled along at uneven intervals toward the general store, which was the center of the village.

While I went in to the store to order our provisions, Barclay hunted up the man Lucy had mentioned in her letter from whom he could hire a boat.

"Some day," Lucy had written, "we will have a launch; but until that happy time you'll have to row your own."

He came back presently in great glee to say that the boat man had acquired a launch since the previous summer, and though he would not lend it to us for the season, he was willing to take us and our rowboat out to the island that night, and make a weekly trip with the mail if we so wished.

As the island was more than half a mile off the shore, and a rough pull in bad weather the launch Barclay declared, was a godsend. It was nearly dusk before we were ready, and Alec, our boatman, was impatient for us to be off. Barclay left his car in a garage on the main land, and at last we were on the way.

The island seemed like a mere dot on the water in the gathering twilight, but as we came nearer I saw that it was perhaps a quarter of a mile in extent. It was rocky too. As far as I could see there was scarcely any vegetation, and I wondered vaguely what one did for shade. The salt spray was in our faces, and I filled my lungs with the exhibiarating air of the sea. I was glad I had come. Barclay shared my exhilaration and pressed me closer to him in the darkness.

"Happy, sweetheart?" he asked, his voice low and vibrant.

"Very happy," I whispered.

The next minute Alec's vince was informing me that we had reached our destination, and presently I was climbing up the side of a shaky little pier, faintly illuminated by Barclay's flashlight.

Barclay left me on shore while he and Alec brought in the provisions. When all were landed Barclay gave me a few packages and led the way up a steep little path toward Lucy's shack.

It was a bare enough looking place, as I saw as soon as Barclay lit the coal-oil lamp which stood on an unpainted table in the center of the room. There were two cots against the unplastered walls, and apparently that was all he furniture there was, besides a kitchen chair.

I shivered a little in the dampness and felt a sudden sinking of the heart. But Barclay was in no whit dismayed.

"We'll have a fire in a jiffy," he said, "and then we'll be as cosy as any one could wish."

He let Alec bring up the rest of the provisions while he busied himself with making a fire in the fireplace which I had not noticed before. He went out into the other room which was a sort of kitchen and brought back another chair. From one hiding-place or another, which he seemed to know very well, he brought out blankets and cushions and spread them before the blaze.

When Alec had gone, Barclay drew me down beside him on the cushions, and for a while we watched the blue driftwood flame in silence. With his arm around me I took heart again. The island was barren and the shack was almost bare. But what did these things matter where love was? Barclay should never know how dismayed I had been. For the first time I felt truly married.

Chats With "Uncle Ray"

To the boys and girls of Madison—What a wonderful thing is the eye! Let us chat about the way it is made.

Most of the eye cannot be seen from the outside. That is because so much of the eye is inside the head. Your eye is about the size and shape of a very large marble—"boulders" we used to call them when I played marbles.

Inside the eye is a jelly which has no color—like clear window glass.

In the middle of the part we can see is what looks like a round, black spot. It is the pupil. The pupil is really a little hole which lets light through. If this hole were closed, we could not see at all.

Look in a mirror, and see the pupil. The colored ring around it is made up of many tiny parts. They are muscle strands or threads. Some of the muscle threads are circular—others are straight, and cross the circular ones.

There is a curious thing about the colored ring. In a bright light, the circular muscles pull it in and make it smaller. This means the pupil hole gets smaller. When there is very little light, the colored ring gets larger. That happens when you are in a dark cellar for a long time.

When you come out into daylight again, you feel almost blinded for a few moments—because too much light is coming through the pupil hole. The circular muscles then pull in the sides of the hole and make it smaller.

At the back of each eye is the end of a nerve which leads to the brain. These nerves tell the brain what it is we see.—Your friend, Uncle Ray.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Creole Soup—Three-quarter cup rice, two onions cut fine, two tablespoons bacon drippings, two cups tomatoes, one and one-half teaspoons salt, one teaspoon sugar. Wash rice, add three cups boiling water and boil thirty minutes. Cook onion in pan with drippings until tender but not brown; add tomatoes and boil ten minutes. Rub through strainer into boiled rice and water; add seasoning and serve hot.

Raisin Bread—Soak one yeast cakein one and one-half cups potato water. Mix enough flour to make stiff batter, beat five minutes. Let stand over night. In the morning scald two cups sweet milk into which put one rounded tablespoon shortening, one tablespoon salt, three tablespoons sugar. When milk is lukewarm mix with yeast, add enough flour to make a stiff batter, beat about ten minutes, let rise. When sufficiently raised add two cups raisins and more flour and knead until dough is smooth; make into loaves and let rise. Bake one hour in slow oven. When baked wet top of loaves with sugar and hot water to prevent crust becoming hard.

Graham Pudding—One egg, one-half cup sweet milk, one-half cup molasses, one-half cup raisins, one-half teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon soda, one cup graham flour. Fill cups half full of batter and steam one hour. Sauce: One and one-half pints water and one cup sugar boiled together for ten minutes. Add one heaping teaspoon cornstarch for slight thickening. Flavor.

Mrs. Thompson's Advice

ANGRY GIRL TURNS HIM DOWN

Is Jealous of Second Girl, He Writes Now She Returns His Letters Unopened

DEAR MRS. THOMPSON: I care for a certain girl very much, too much to give her up. One Saturday she invited me to her house and I went. The next week she received a letter without a name signed, stating that I had an appointment with another girl. Now she will not speak to me and returns my letters unopened. I have been going with this girl merely as a friend because her parents object otherwise. Please advise me what to do.

ANXIOUSLY WAITING.

The girl is not fair to you, but there is nothing you can do about it for the time being. Wait a month or two until her anger has cooled and she has had time to think over the matter. Then write her another letter and say you are trying once more to tell her that you are not guilty of the thing she believes. If she refuses to accept the truth, you will have to give her up.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl 16 years old, have brown, bobbed, curly haid and am considered pretty. I am in love with a man 22 years old. He is not good-looking, but I love him. He says he loves me, but he goes with other girls.

I am not allowed to go with boys, but sometimes I go with him. He says that if he did not love me he would not try to go with me. Last night he had a date, but he didn't keep it. He went to another town with another boy, and I think they got girls there.

He has a cousin that I went with before I met him. This boy likes me, and is always wanting to take me some place, but I do not go. When I go with him it makes the other boy angry.

Please advise me what I can do to prove that this boy really love me? R. D. L.

The young man you like so much has told you that he wouldn't go with you if he did not love you. You have said that he goes with other girls too. Without a doubt he tells every girl he goes with the same thing he told you. It is evident, therefore, that he talks of love far too freely and in reality does not love any one deeply. When a young man is genuinely in love the company of other young women is distasteful to him.

Since you are not allowed to go with young men I would advise you to obey your parents. At your age it does not pay to go with boys secretly.

* * *

Dear Mrs. Thompson: We are two girls 17 and 18. We have a very bad habit when we laugh of showing too much of our front teeth. We are considered good-looking except for this. Please tell us how to overcome this habit. Is bobbed hair going to be in style this summer? Ours is bobbed.

CUTIE AND KEWPIE.

By practice you can overcome your habit of showing too much of your teeth when you laugh. When you are conscious that you are doing something you want to stop, you will do it less and less often. Simply laugh in a way you consider more attractive when you think of it.

Bobbed hair is supposed to have gone out of style sometime ago, but it is still popular. You can let your hair stay bobbed with perfect safety for the coming season.

* * *

ANXIOUS: I am sorry that your second letter did not arrive in time to prevent the printing of the first. It had been published before your letter reached me.

Baking Potatoes—About five minutes before serving your baked potatoes remove from the oven and wrap in a cloth. See how much more you enjoy them.

Theater Music Should Follow Trend of Show

By CHATTY

Have you often wondered why it was that in some theaters the organists played pieces which seemed to work well with the picture that was being shown while in others the music seemed to have been chosen simply at random with no rythme or reason?

According to Mrs. L. Lynn, the organist for the Strand theater, the first case seems to be more frequent the farther west one goes and the latter the farther east one goes. The reason for this she says, is that the moving picture houses in the east depend more upon orchestras than they do on the organ and that the cue sheets which are sent with the pictures are made up for orchestras.

* * *

"And the cue sheets are worse than nothing," Mrs. Lynn declared. "I would rather play for a picture picking suitable pieces as the film progressed than follow the cue sheets. Since they are made up for orchestras they do not stick as closely to the theme of the picture as they should.

"If the managers of a western theater stepped into a Chicago house and heard some of the things that were being played—Faust for a Chinese film, Italian opera for a Spanish film or an overture for a slap-stick comedy scene, they would be astonished.

"What I try to do is to fit the music to the film as nearly as possible. In order to do this one must have an immense music store in his head. But it is necessary in order to keep in the sprit of the thing."

The Strand was entertaining the crippled kiddies of the Bradley Memorial hospital at "The Bright Shawl" yesterday afternoon. There was a score or more of youngsters at the theater all of them with legs bandaged or braced.

Scorched Taste Disappears—When you suspect your cooking has been scorched, lift the vessel holding the food quickly from the fire and stand it in a pan of cold water for a few minutes.

Ashes for Scouring—There is nothing better than fine ashes to scour out a pot that food has been burned in.

Senior Tryouts For U. W. Class Play Continue

Senior play tryouts will be continued at 1 o'clock this afternoon in Lathrop parlors, according to an announcement made yesterday by Gertrude Johnson, coach for "The Road to Yesterday" to be presented this spring.

Approximately 20 candidates appeared at the tryouts yesterday and were registered for work on various parts of the cast of 14. There are eight men and six women in the cast.

All those who appeared yesterday are expected to appear at the meeting this afternoon, Sidney Thorsen '24, production manager, asserted. Any new applicants may appear at this time also, it was given out.

The tryouts for "The Road to Yesterday" are limited to seniors only. The play will be given as the 1923 class play in the amphitheater at the rear of Bascom hall on June 14 and 15. Many alumni here for commencement, will attend as a part of class reunion activities.

The play is a fantasy in four acts and takes in two periods, 1923 and 1623. Each character plays two roles to fit in each period.

S. G. A. District 3 To Hold Party

S. G. A. district number 3 will hold an informal hare and hounds party this afternoon, meeting at 3 o'clock at Lathrop hall around the center table. This is under the direction of Lorraine Moody '24.

Kiddies-Can-Do-It

By Uncle Cobb Shinn

IF you think that you can see the picture of the kangaroo in this lot of tangle lines, take your lead pencil and blot out all the unnecessary lines. Have nothing but a picture of this curious creature that lives only in Australia and some of the neighboring islands. Did you ever notice the big and powerful hind legs of a kangaroo on which he hops? When in no great hurry he will hop about a yard at a time, but if pursued by man or dog he goes at a fine pace, hopping twelve feet or more at every hop, going over a ditch or hedge with ease.

BACK ACHED TERRIBLY

Mrs. Robinson Tells How She Found Relief by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Amarillo, Tex.—"My back was my greatest trouble. It would ache so that it would almost kill me and I would have cramps. I suffered in this way about three years; then a lady friend suggested that I try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have had better health since, keep house and am able to do my work. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends as it has certainly given me great relief."—Mrs. C. B. Robinson, 608 N. Lincoln St., Amarillo, Texas.

The Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine for women. It relieves the troubles which cause such symptoms as backache, painful times, irregularity, tired and worn-out feelings and nervousness. This is shown again and again by such letters as Mrs. Robinson writes as well as by one woman telling another. These women know what it did for them. It is surely worth your trial.

Housewives make a great mistake in allowing themselves to become ill that it is well-nigh impossible for them to attend to their necessary household duties.

Uncle Wiggily's Bedtime Stories

By HOWARD GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE FLY PAPER

Copyright, 1923, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

"Dear me! There's another one!" exclaimed Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy in the hollow stump bungalow one day.

"One what?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "Do you mean another of the animal boys running up on your clean stoop with muddy feet?"

"No, it isn't any of them," said Nurse Jane. "It's a fly! Now that we have the windows open the flies are coming in. I wish you'd get me some sticky fly paper, Wiggily."

"I shall get you some," promised the bunny rabbit gentleman, making a low and polite bow with his pink, twinkling tall hat. Then he put on his black nose and—

Getting more stuck up than ever

Oh, yes, yes! I see! I've made a little mistake! I mean Uncle Wiggily put on his tall, silk hat and made a polite bow with his pink, twinkling nose. Now I'm right, thank goodness. And then Uncle Wiggily set off over the fields and through the woods to get some sticky fly paper for Nurse Jane.

"I suppose it seems cruel to catch the flies on sticky paper," thought Uncle Wiggily as he hopped along, wondering what sort of an adventure he would have. "But it is much better to catch the flies than to let them catch us. And, besides, it is much better for the flies to be all together in one place on the sticky paper than scattered all over the bungalow."

The rabbit uncle was half way through the woods, when he met Uncle Butter, the goat gentleman.

"Where are you going, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Uncle Butter.

"To get some fly paper," answered Mr. Longears.

"Bless my whiskers!" bleated Uncle Butter. "You don't mean to say that you buy a newspaper for your flies to read. I never heard of such a thing. I know the flies in our house want sugar, but I never dreamed of getting a paper for them. In fact, I didn't know that flies could read."

"Ho! Ho! Don't be silly! Of course flies can't read, and I'm not going to get them that kind of a paper," said Uncle Wiggily. "I'm going to get a sticky paper with which to catch the flies. Nurse Jane doesn't want them buzzing about the bungalow."

"Oh, that's different!" chuckled Uncle Butter. "Yes, it would be rather silly to buy flies a paper to read, or even a paper of pins!"

Then Uncle Wiggily hopped on to the eleven and twelve cent store, and bought a large sticky fly paper. It came in two pieces, as a matter of fact—two pieces with the sticky sides together.

"But how are the flies going to sit down to be stuck?" asked Uncle Wiggily of the little mousie girl clerk who waited on him.

"Oh, just pull the pieces apart slowly, and you will have two very sticky papers," squeaked the mousie girl, and Uncle Wiggily thanked her. Then he hurried back through the woods to his hollow stump bungalow.

But, all of a sudden, out from behind a mulberry bush popped the Bob Cat, with tassels on his ears. He was a hungry chap, was the Bob Cat, and anxious to nibble some one.

"Ah, ha. I guess I'll nibble you," howled the Bob Cat to the bunny uncle. "I guess I'll nibble your ears!"

"Oh, please don't!" begged Uncle Wiggily. Then the Bob Cat saw what Uncle Wiggily was carrying home and the bad chap snarled:

"What have you there?"

"Paper," answered Uncle Wiggily. "Just paper. It's paper for—"

"Ha! Just what I want to see—a newspaper!" interrupted the Bob Cat. "I want to see what's going to be on the wireless and I want to know about the weather. Here, give me that paper!" he cried, most impolitely, snatching it away from the rabbit gentleman.

"Wait a minute," exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "It isn't that kind of a paper. It's paper for—"

"It's paper for me—that's what it is!" snarled the Bob Cat. With that he tore off the wrapping and pulled the sticky fly paper apart. And, as the day was warm the stuff was very sticky. One piece clung to the Bob Cat's left paw.

"Hi! What's this?" he cried, trying to pull it off. Then a bit stuck to his right paw. "Oh, wow!" he howled. "What kind of paper is this?" And he tore around getting more stuck up than ever.

"It's fly paper, not Bob Cat paper!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. Then the bad animal tried to pull the piece of sticky paper off his paws with his teeth, but he only plastered a big square of it over his mouth.

"Blub! Blob! Bloo!" howled the Bob Cat, for he couldn't open his lips to talk plainly. And, of course he couldn't nibble Uncle Wiggily's ears.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the bunny rabbit, as the Bob Cat rolled over and over on the ground, trying to get rid of the sticky stuff. "Three cheers for the fly paper!" Then Mr. Longears slipped back and bought more sticky paper for Nurse Jane and she caught a lot of flies. So that's all now. But if the tooth brush doesn't try to shoot the bath tub with talcum powder and make the cake of soap slide down stairs, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the sneezing sunshine.

Pin Tucks Trim Many New Frocks

It is a season of trimming, but very often the trimming is so simple and inconspicuous that it does not seem ornamental. Pin tucks are among the most popular effects used this season. They are being used on twill suits, cloth capes and silk frocks.

SUGGESTIONS

To Wash Delicate Garments—When washing dainty small pieces in an electric washer or garments with strings attached to them, slip them into a pillowcase to avoid getting them tangled with other pieces.

Use a Buttonhook—When you wish to crochet a rag rug and you have no suitable crochet hook, try using a button hook. A long handled one is best. You will be surprised to find it so good a substitute.

Galli Curci's Rise to Fame Phenomenal; Sings in City May 21

University Orchestra Will Play Tomorrow; Other Music News

BY EUNICE NECKERMAN

From Portland, Maine, to Portland, Oregon, from Quebec, Canada, to New Orleans, the name of Galli-Curci is loved. The fame of the great soprano who is to sing in the University Stock Pavilion on the night of May 21, has spread from country to country, for the record of her success is unique in musical annals. The cities that heard of her in her early days, Rome, Milan, Cairo, Alexandria, Buenos Aires, have followed with intense interest the great successes of the singer who had captivated them, and had then taken America by storm.

Her sensational success at her "debut" in Chicago on the afternoon of Nov. 18, 1915, as "Gilda" in "Rigoletto" made New York keen with curiosity, and the news of a successor to Patti spread like wildfire. A singer absolutely unknown to America, unheralded, caught the public unawares and, in a single afternoon endeared herself to their hearts forever.

Since that memorable day Galli-Curci has made from 12 to 18 appearances in the Chicago Auditorium each season, to sold out houses.

U. S.-China Union Would Save World, Says Hung

"Europe is the world of yesterday and the Pacific is the world of tomorrow," said Dr. William Hung, Chinese scholar who addressed the Chicago Rotary club on the union of the United States and China to save the world.

"If America and China should choose to unite on certain common ideas of humanity, these two would be quite sufficient to bring about a new understanding in which there would not be any international or inter-racial hatred," he said.

Dr. Hung is a graduate of three American universities and professor of philosophy at Pekin.

Union Board Name Contest Closes Tomorrow Evening

The contest which the Union board is sponsoring to get a new name for the dances, ends tomorrow night. A prize of $5 will be awarded to the best name suggested. The name may be one or two words in length, and the special blank published elsewhere in The Cardinal should be mailed to the Union board at the Union building or turned in to any of the members of the board.

A SUGGESTION

To Keep Hands Soft—To keep the hands from getting rough and hard, rub with a little vinegar after scrubbing, washing and dishwashing. This will keep the hands smooth and soft.

Announcement was made at the T. K. E. formal last night of the engagement of Alberta Kirchner, Fountain City, and Leslie A. Hill, Commerce senior.

Monona Golf Club Leases Large Tract For Temporary Course

Nine Holes To Be Ready By June 1; Have 100 Members

New Organization Growing Rapidly Here

By BRYN GRIFFITHS

WHEN the golfing season officially opens soon, teeing off will occur, not only on the Maple Bluff and Blackhawk club links—but on the very recently acquired temporary course of the Monona Golf club across Lake Monona. This tract is about 65 acres, and a nine hole course is now being laid out and members of the club will start playing on it about June 1.

Announcement that the tract had been secured was made Friday to The Capital Times sporting editor by A. G. Michelson, attorney for the club.

Incorporators of the club met Thursday and it was voted to lease the land across Monona for one year. This land is owned by Herman Loftsgordon and Albert Stonehill and is located between the lake shore and Lake Monona near Spring Haven.

According to plans of the incorporators no club house will be erected this year. The course being a temporary one has led the golfers to accept a proposition made by a store adjoining the land where a restaurant and rest rooms will be erected to accommodate the golfers.

Nearly 100 members have been secured for the club. A meeting will be held soon when officers will be elected and further business transacted.

Cleveland Gets Another From Gleason's Men

Is Indians Sixth Consecutive Game From Sox; Yanks Win

CHICAGO — Cleveland retained its hold on first place in the American League yesterday by overcoming Chicago's early five run lead and winning eight to 6. It was the sixth consecutive game Cleveland has won from the White Sox. Pitcher Cvengros and the Sox infield collapsed simultaneously.

Yanks Beat Red Sox

The hitting of Witt and Dugan accounted for the homicidal activities of "Murderers Row" in the New York Yankees' victory over the Boston Red Sox, four to two.

Browns Lose to Detroit

Although St. Louis made seven extra base blows, three doubles, two triples and two homers, the circuit clouts registered the only tallies and for the second successive time the Browns went down to defeat before the Detroit Tigers five to two. McManus and Williams were the home run hitters, the latter making his second base drive in two days and his fourth for the season.

Phillies-Senators Tied

Philadelphia and Washington fought a double knockout in their 10-10 tie, darkness stopping a heavy hitting 12 inning contest marred by many misplays.

Braves Beat Giants

The Boston Braves turned on the world champion Giants and overwhelmed them 10 to 3. Stuff Mc Innes former of Cleveland, Southworth and Bagwell formed the battering ram of the Boston attack, accounting for seven of the Braves eleven hits.

Brooklyn Cops

Burleigh Grimes held the Phillies to four hits and Brooklyn took the second straight game of their series 5 to 2.

Grimm To Referee In Volley Ball Tourney

A. F. Grimm, physical director of the city Y. M. C. A. has been appointed a referee for the National Y. M. C. A. volley ball championship series at Chicago May 11-12 according to an announcement regarding the series just received here.

Racine wil represent Wisconsin at thetourney. This team won the championship of Wisconsin. Teams from all pars of the country are entered.

Jimmy Dodge To Take His "Twin Cities Red Sox" To Mazomanie For First Game

Sunday Will Give Fans Opportunity To See Much Talked Of Team Get Into Action; Line-up Given

By Bryn Griffiths

BASEBALL FANS from Mazomanie and surrounding towns will have their first opportunity this year Sunday to see a baseball team in action, when Jimmy Dodge, manager of the "Twin Cities Red Sox" Sauk City baseball club, leads his aggregation into the opponents' camp at Mazomanie.

Dodge is well known in baseball circles in Wisconsin and his pitching has always attracted much attention.

Here are a few of the men Dodge has signed. Look them over. Some great gang?

Jack Nigbor of Winona, Minn., an outfielder who last year played with the Oelwein, [illegible]

* * *

Nick McEnerey. Another outfielder who last year was with the Rock Island, Ill., "Three-I" league team. He was considered one of the fastest outfielders in the league.

* * *

Milton Reed. A first baseman who hails from Wisconsin Rapids. Reed is a clever first sacker and Dodge is turning over the job of field captain to him. This is the job Eddie Lenehan, now Madison manager, was to have held.

* * *

Louis Amborn. Hails from Sioux City, Ia. He will be at the second sack.

* * *

Nic Stoneman. A catcher well known in Wisconsin. He played with the Platteville Normal school and Platteville City team last year.

* * *

Bartells. Pitcher who last summer won the champion of the Western Wisconsin league for Richland Center. He's a steady moundsman and with good support is going to be a bright light.

* * *

Dodge, of course, will be the main moundsman. He will not pitch against Mazomanie, however, as his first appearance will be at Madison May 5 in the opening game here.

Jimmy is negotiating with two more infielders and two outfielders. Until these men are signed—and they should be by Sunday, according to Jimmy, the entire lineup will not be made public.

One thing is certain and that is —"The Twin Cities Red Sox" is going to be a fast aggregation.

HorseshoeFans Here Organize Official Group

Ben Park, Provisional Chairman; Affiliate With State Ass'n

A horseshoe pitchers' association with a membership of over 300 is what local tossers are predicting here as a result of their big meeting at the city "Y" Thursday night when plans for an organization were discussed.

Ben Park is Fan

Ben Park, well known in Madison and who is as great a horseshoe tossing fan as there is in the city, was elected provisional chairman of the association. Joe Younger was elected provisional secretary-treasurer.

A committee appointed to draw up a constitution and by-laws consists of Earl Cotanch, Henry Beyler and A. M. Barber.

This committee will make a report at the next meeting, Friday, May 4, when the constitution will be voted upon and officers are elected.

A membership fee of $1.00 will be charged.

Plan City Tourney

Plans for a city tournament will be worked out by the organization and it will be open to all horseshoe pitchers in Madison township.

The local organization will be affiliated with the Wisconsin State Horseshoe Pitchers' association as soon as a permanent organization is established here and this will be done at the next meeting.

Much Interest Here

There is much interest in horseshoe pitching in Madison and there is no doubt but what a membership of 300 active members will be reached shortly after the association gets under way.

Jack Ryan Gives Men Some Kicking Practice

Coach Jack Ryan devoted most of the time yesterday afternoon in developing kickers. The coach personally supervised the work of the men in kicking the pigskin. Most of them are green at the work of booting the oval but the method that the coach used ought to develop some good men.

A few more men report each day so that if the season lasts long enough there will be enough men out to have a good practice. Marty Below turned out in a suit yesterday and got in some good practice. Several others of last year's varsity are putting in an appearance now.

Tom Nichols, center on last year's varsity team, was out in a suit and worked with the linemen for a short time. He can do some work in the absence of Jimmy Brader who has acted as assistant coach last year.

Hawkeyes Meet U. W. Tennis Team Today

Badger net men will raise the curtain on the 1923 tennis season on the Varsity courts this afternoon when they encounter the strong Iowa tennis team in the first conference competition of the season for both teams.

After a week of strenuous work, Coach Linden made his final choices of men yesterday afternoon and announced the lineup for the Iowa meet. Captain Tredwell, Nick Aagesen, Art Moulding and George Bennett are the men who will provide the competition for the Hawks.

The varsity courts on University avenue and Breese Terrace are in fair condition considering the short time that the weather man has allowed to work on them. They are fast and there is just enough moisture in them to keep down the dust.

The match today will begin at 2:30 p. m.

INTER-COLLEGE BASEBALL

The Commerce-Agric baseball game has been postponed from this afternoon until next week. Further notice will be given.

Roundy Says:

That Remodeled Ball Park Out At The Kipp Is Going To Be A Bear!

The Senate votes for beer, the assembly is for beer, the people would vote for beer, the breweries are for beer? But try and get a glass of it.

* * *

Volstead said he did not see a drunken man in his auto trip away from Washington. He is either blind or did not come up in the 700 block on Washington ave.

* * *

This state will need the militia if beer is ever gotten back to the people. The first day it is allowed to become a national drink some one is going to get killed in the rush for those steins. So spare the militia as they might do good work forming lines to the land of foams.

* * *

Sammy Gillbloom the manager of the Hill's millinery department is wearing a brown derby now days. It is two sizes too small and is laid up with a charley horse from chasing it down the streets and alleys.

* * *

There is a big fellow in town today looking over the boxing situation in this city and is rather stuck on the Monona park arena. If he is able to get the license this fellow will pull something rather classy in the game here. He has business interests in this city and knows the game from a to z. He has the big coin to back it up and is chummy with most all the big fight managers in America today.

* * *

Tommy O'Brien. Mendleshon, Sangor, Zwick, Jawson, Jimmie Deleaney of Saint Paul and a host of other stars this man says he can get here and if they do they will fight for this fellow all the time. They know him and are willing to hustle all the time for this man. And if they don't they know this bird will chase them out of town. He can get them on percentage.

* * *

A man could pull about three pretty good fights over there in the summer and get away in good shape. You would not get rich, and if this fellow breaks even he don't care.

* * *

Madison has about 43,000 people and about 30,000 more to draw from. If he does any thing it will be known inside of three weeks and if he is given freedom and given the license he will give you a card that is classy. And this fellow if he makes anything is willing to give the Athletic Association there bit as I understand.

* * *

Do the fans know that in the history of the big leagues that only three perfect no hit games have been pitched? One by Charley Robertson, Addie Joss, Watertown boy, and old Cy Young.

* * *

Dear Sir—A home run in the last half of the ninth counts as a homer and all runs scored ahead of it count even if one is only necessary to win the game. It is a rotten rule but it is made just to protect the importance of home run records.

* * *

Ernie Vick the great Michigan catcher of last year was let go by the St. Louis Cards and sent to Houston in the Texas league. He is under contract to assist Yost as football coach in 1923.

* * *

Rod Shaugnessey, son of the chief of police of this city was named as first assistant coach of the Notre Dame freshman football squad this week by head coach Rockne.

* * *

Matt Pertzborn and Roundy Coughlin in the doubles were awful. I will be a great help on that lawnmower in Brittingham park, while Matt should always be a handy man around that mortar box.

* * *

The Wisconsin highway commission has the finest bunch of bowling boosters you ever came across. They had five teams from that one office bowling every Saturday in a league and have been doing it for two years.

* * *

A. R. Hirst, head of the highway commission, sure was a-sweating, fellows, but Hirst got that wood for 612! Real bowling! He could have whipped six road gangs in a row there. Hirst is a regular fellow and his fine personality and his good fellowship among the men on the alleys and on the highways in this state makes him a very well liked man.

* * *

Kueling shot 510 and asked Hirst for a vacation to celebrate. He thinks he went into first place. Isabell got 446. The number of holes in the capitol square pavement, and Ed O'Mear got 490, and Hambrecht got 501. They walked around the alleys asking for "Goodfellowship prizes." Can you beat it?

* * *

Bill Blau and Bunk Bowes are still standing down on the corner looking at their scores and yelling hard luck and saying it was too warm and other things. Bowes did all right but he had to get the blues listening to Blau.

CHICAGO, Ill., April 27—Playing an errorless game, Wisconsin defeated Chicago 6 to 4 here this afternoon.

The Badgers were without their captain, Rollie Williams, who sprained an ankle in a practice game Wednesday.

The game was close and well played by both teams. Wisconsin was outhit but made their five hits count, and they took advantage of the five Chicago errors.

Pickford Blow in 8th

Pickford hurled good ball for the winners until the eighth inning when Yardley hit a circuit clout with one man on the bases. Radke was then sent in as relief man.

By this victory Wisconsin remains in the perfect percentage column along with Michigan and Illinois. Wisconsin and Michigan play at Ann Arbor Saturday.

Madison Blues Play Sunday At Cambridge

Locals Work Out At Kipp This Afternoon; Fans Are Invited

Members of the Madison baseball team arrived in town during the past three days and last night uniforms were issued by Manager Eddie Lenahan.

The Madison "Blues."

The uniforms, which are dark blue with a small white stripe will no doubt result in the locals being known as "The Blues."

"It's a bad nameto start the season with, but if you have to call them "blues" all right," Charley O'Neill, president of the M. A. A. said last night.

Play Cambridge.

Sunday afternoon Cambridge will be met on their own diamond. It will be a practice game for the local team in preparation for their opened here next Saturday with "The Twin Cities Red Sox."

This afternoon beginning at 2:30 the Madison team will take a workout at Kipp field. Fans are invited to come out and look the boys over.

Badgers Jump Gun And Fail To Qualify At Drake

DES MOINES, Ia., April 27—Over-eagerness cost Wisconsin her chances for places in the special events at the Drake Relays, Des Moines, Ia., yesterday when all three Wisconsin men competing for honors failed to qualify in preliminary trials.

Captain Spetz was set back twice for jumping the gun in the 100 yard dash and under the handicap he failed to qualify for further competition. Newell, Badger hurdling ace, was also penalized twice for starting early and he failed to make the required speed to be given another chance today.

Donohue failed to qualify for further competition in the high jump.

Church Athletic Ass'n Plays Indoor Games Too

Three indoor baseball games between teams of the Madison Church Athletic association will be played at the city Y. M. C. A. Thursday, May 10.

Badgers Roll 2,674 For Second Place In Team Event; Low Marks Made In Doubles Don't Place

FRIDAY night was a comparatively quiet one in the Madison Bowling association tournament, the only thrills of the evening coming at the Madison alleys where the Esser's Market five went into first place in the five-man event with a count of 2680 and the Badgers landed in second with 2674. The Velvet Ice Creams No. 1 copped third place with a 2559 count.

None of the doubles scores were high enough to place.

A. R. Hirst, chief engineer of the state highway commission was the big attraction in the doubles and singles, and placed fifth in the singles with a count of 612 the highest score rolled Friday night.

Hirst had a big gallery following him and the engineer was a happy man at the conclusion of his games.

Stan Cutler, with 588, H. Van Keulen with 574, and H. E. Hills with 583 all placed in the singles.

Scores of Friday's games follow:

Report of the Markets

Report for April 28, 1923

Wheat Prices Lower; Corn, Oats Follow

(By the Associated Press).

CHICAGO—Easing down of prices in the wheat market today during the early dealings resulted from favorable seeding conditions for the spring crop and from rains benefitting the winter crop territory, Kansas and Nebraska in particular. Besides. Liverpool quotations showed a decline. Prices here receded one cent before developing power to rally. The opening which ranged from ¼ to ¾c lower, with May 1.24¾ to 1.25 and July 1.22¾ to 1.23.

X X X and July 1.22¾ to 1.23, was followed by further downturns and then a little reaction.

Subsequently, the market lacked support and fell lower than before. The close was heavy, 1c to 2c net lower, with May 1.23¾ to 1.23½ and July 1.21⅞ to 1.22.

CORN—Corn and oats took their cue from the action of wheat. After opening unchanged to ⅜c lower, July 81½ to 81⅝, the corn market sagged a bit more and then recovered.

Corn at times showed considerable resistance to selling pressure. The close nevertheless was weak, ⅜c to 1⅛ net lower, July 81.

OATS— Oats started ⅛ to ¼c lower, May 44⅝ to 44¾ and later rallied somewhat.

PROVISIONS—Provisions were firmer in line with hog values.

Sugar, Rails Drop Slightly On Exchange

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Prices continued to move within narrow and irregular limits at the opening of today's stock market. Dupont advanced 1⅝ to 147 a new high record for the year and Cryamel Fruit established a new peak price on a gain of quarter. Otis elevator dropped back to new low level for the year. Oils showed mixed changes, Phillips Petroleum, Sinclair and Producers and Refiners losing ground and California Petroleum and Standard Oil of N. J. improving fractionally.

Sugar and railroad shares yielded to selling pressure, Cuba Cane Sugar dropping a point, and Cuban American, CVhesapeake and Ohio, Canadian Pacific, Atchison and Great Northern Pfd. losing ½ to ¾. Otis Elevator extended its loss to 1½ points and American Hide and Leather Pfd. and crucible sold a point below yesterday's final figures. Dupont extended its gain to 3 points. Foreign exchanges opened irregular. Demand sterling was unchanged at $4.63⅛ and French Francs eased slightly to 6.78 cents.

The closing was heavy. Sales approximated 375,000 shares.

Prevent Fires Says Forester In Radio Talk

Harry D. Liemann Scores Carelessness In Wireless Talk Here

Carelessness is responsible for eight per cent of the forest fires in the United States.

So said Harry D. Tiemann, president of the local section of the Society of American Foresters, in a radio talk at the university station Thursday night.

"You wouldn't smoke a cigarette in a powder factory," said Mr. Tiemann, "but smoking in our dwindling forest areas may do even greater harm. The woods are to use and to enjoy but we must use them properly so that generations after us may also enjoy them. Camp fires should be carefully built and totally extinguished after they have served their usefulness because a rising wind may fan a smoldering mass into sweeping flames.

"This week has been set aside by the President of the United States as Forest Protection week. There are today 81,000,000 acres in the United States of devastated unproductive waste land, an area more than twice the size of Wisconsin, which forest fires have caused.

"For the last ten years we have been burning up the forests at the rate of 7,000,00 acres a year. In 1921 12,000,000 acres were burned over. During the five years from 1916 to 1921 an area of 56,500,000 acres, an area larger than that of the New England states was burned.

"We need the forests today more than ever and it is up to us to keep our nation great by preserving what still remains of the forests. To prevent forest fires it requires constant vigilance and persistent preaching and practicing of the gospel of carefulness.'

Goodnight To Open Week's Radio Program

The schedule of daily radio broadcasting services from WHA, the university radio station, will be as follows:

Every day at 11:59 a. m.—Time signal, 485 meters.

Every day at 12, Weather report, 485 meters.

Every day at 7 p. m., Weather forecast, 360 meters, followed by educational lectures as follows:

Radio Station At U. W. To Send Code

The University of Wisconsin radio station, W. H. A. in response to numerous letters from radio fans through the state, is broadcasting a series of instructions on the receiving of radio telegraphy.

These lessons are broadcasted every Saturday from 12:20 to 1:00. They will consist in sending out the regular code, and an explanation on the radio telephone.

The fundamental lessons will be followed by simple messages that are commonly used by the commercial companies. It is hoped that with these lessons the fans will be able to pick up regular messages by the time the course is finished. tinue for seven weeks," Hansen concluded.

Appreciate '23 Gift To Union, Says Letter

As a result of the action of the senior class in voting 100 per cent to join the Alumni association, at the first senior class meeting Wednesday in Music hall, Leslie F. Van Hagen, chairman of the membership committee of the association sends the following appreciation:

"Editor, The Cardinal:

"The action of the class of 1923 in voting to come into the Wisconsin Alumni association in a body, thus following the precedent of the classes of 1921 and 1922, has the warm appreciation of that association.

"The older graduates of Wisconsin welcome this immense class of sixteen hundred members to their ranks and rejoice in the feeling of confidence that comes from so great an infusion of new blood.

"If the association is to be a live and vital organization, if it is to work out its destiny effectively, if it is to be a power in educational affairs in this state, it will be, in a large measure, because of the constant addition of large numbers of active and intellectually-eager young men and women whose opinions and influence will shape the policies of the association.

"What 1923 has done is a fitting climax to an honorable record which the class has already established. Ten years from now the fact that '23 joined the ranks of organized alumni as a class will probably mean more to its members than any other one thing that the class did. It is a fine action that is most sincerely appreciated by all who have the interests of Wisconsin deeply at heart."

LESLIE F. VAN HAGEN,
Chairman, Membership Committee.

AN ACT To amend subsection (10a) of section 40.09 of the statutes, relating to the limitation of tax rates for school purposes.

The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Subsection (10a) of section 40.09 of the statutes is amended to read: (40.09) (10a) The total amount of school district tax hereafter levied in any school district in this state in any one year for building, hiring or purchasing any school building, and for the maintenance of schools, including teachers' wages and incidental expenses, shall not exceed two and one-half per cent of the total assessed valuation of taxable property in such school district for the preceding year; provided that, except as otherwise provided in this subsection, any school district maintaining a free high school and having an assessed valuation of five hundred thousand dollats or less may levy a tax for school purposes not to exceed three percent of the assessed valuation for the preceding year. Any high school district having an assessed valuation of less than eight hundred thousand dollars which has a debt now outstanding and enforceable in excess of ten thousand dollars, which debt was contracted prior to the first day of January, 1923, for the construction of school buildings or other lawful school purposes, and which is unable to issue bonds for such indebtedness because already bonded up to its constitutional debt limit, may levy a tax of three and one-half per cent of the assessed valuation, for the purpose of paying such indebtedness, and meeting its regular school expenses.

AN ACT To amend subsection (3) of section 72.17 of the statutes, relating to the duties and fees of public administrators in connection with the inheritance tax.

The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Subsection (3) of section 72.17 of the statutes is amended to read: (72.17) (3) It shall be the duty of the public administrator, under the general supervision of the tax commission and with the assistance of the district attorney, when required by the tax commission or county judge, to investigate the estates of deceased persons within his county and to appear for and act in behalf of the county and state in the county court in such estates as the court may in its discretion deem necessary, and for such services the public administrator shall be entitled to five per centum of the gross inheritance tax as determined in each such estate, to be paid by the county treasurer out of the inheritance tax funds upon an order of the county judge, provided that the minimum fee for each such estate shall not be less than three dollars, except that it shall not exceed the amount of such tax, and the maximum fee not more than twenty-five dollars; but in cases of unusual difficulty, in estates of resident decedents, where the tax exceeds five hundred dollars, the county judge may allow the public administrator such additional compensation as he may deem just and reasonable. When the public administrator is not available, or is not qualified to act as such in any case, the court may call upon the district attorney or any attorney to act as public administrator in such case, and such acting public administrator shall be entitled to the fees above provided.

SECTION 2. This act shall take effect upon passage and publication.

CHAPTER 74, LAWS OF 1923.

AN ACT To amend subsections 2 and 3 of section 1935 of the statutes, relating to insurance corporations.

The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Subsections 2 and 3 of section 1935 of the statutes are amended to read: (Section 1935.) 2. The treasurer or person designated to receive such money may demand and receive two per cent in addition to the amount of each such assessment for his fees in receiving and paying over the same. Such assessment, when collected, shall be paid to the person entitled thereto according to the terms of the policy issued to him. The corporation may borrow money without the levy of an assessment at the time of such loan, on the condition that such money be used to pay losses incurred on or after the first day of November preceding, and that an assessment or assessments to cover such losses be levied before the first day of November following upon all persons insured at the time such losses were incurred. * * * No loan or renewal thereof shall extend beyond the first day of January next following the original making of such loan.

3. Every member who shall neglect or refuse to pay such assessment at the time specified in the notice sent to him, shall pay to such corporation a fine of two per cent of the amount of such assessment for each week or part thereof during which the same shall remain unpaid, and no payment shall be made by any company upon the policy, of any member, hereafter written, who shall sustain a loss, if such member, at the time of such loss, shall be in default and shall have neglected or refused to pay such assessment at the expiration of thirty days from the time specified in said notice sent to him.

SECTION 2. This act shall take effect upon passage and publication.

Approved April 25, 1923.

LEGAL NOTICES

Notice is hereby given that the following proposed amendment to the Zoning Ordinance is now pending before the Common Council, and that a public hearing will be held in the Council Chamber of the City Hall on the evening of May 11, 1923, at 7:30 p. m.

AN ORDINANCE
By Alderman Sullivan

An Ordinance to amend Ordinance No. 2047 of the General Ordinances of the City of Madison relating to the zoning and districting of the City of Madison.

The Common Council of the City of Madison do ordain, as follows:

SECTION 1—The following provision is added to Section 2 of Ordinance 2047 of the City of Madison, to-wit: provided, however, that the following described real estate shall be omitted from the "G" Light Industrial District, to-wit:
Lots 10-11, Block 51
Lots 8-9-10-11, Block 50
Lots 8-9-10-11, Block 49
All of block 68, and all of
Block 71 all in the City of Madison,
Dane County, Wisconsin, and that the following described real estate shall be added to the "D" Commercial District, to-wit:
Lots 10-11, Block 51
Lots 8-9, Block 50, all in the City of Madison,
Dane County, Wisconsin, and that the following described real estate shall be added to the "C" Residence District, to-wit:
Lots 10-11, Block 50
Lots 8-9-10-11, Block 49
All of Block 68 and all of
Block 71 all in the City of Madison, Dane County, Wisconsin.

SECTION 2—This Ordinance shall be in effect from and after its passage and publication.

Dated at Madison, Wisconsin, April 27, 1923.
H. C. BUSER,
City Clerk.
The Capital Times April 28, 30 and May 1, 1923.

First insertion April 21, 1923; last May 5

Order for Hearing Petition for Sale of Real Estate. State of Wisconsin, County Court, Dane County—In Probate.

In Re Estate of JUSTINA DUCKERT, Deceased.

It Appearing by the verified petition of R. F. Duckert, the administrator of the estate of Justina Duckert, deceased, among other things, that the personal estate of said deceased in the hands of said petitioner is insufficient to pay in full the expenses of administration, last sickness and funeral, and the debts outstanding against said deceased, and that it is necessary to sell or incumber the whole of the real estate of said deceased, for the payment thereof, or of some part thereof;

And said petitioner praying that he be licensed and empowered to mortgage, lease or sell, as to the court seems advantageous and expedient, the whole of the real estate of said deceased, described in such petition, or so much thereof as shall be necessary, for the payment of such expenses and debts.

THEREFORE, IT IS ORDERED, That said petition and the matters therein be heard at the regular term of said court, to be held at the Court House in said county, in the city of Madison, on the first Tuesday of June, 1923, at the opening of court on that day, or as soon thereafter as said petitioner can be heard;

AND, IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, That notice of such hearing be given to all persons interested, by publication hereof three successive weeks previous to said time, in the Capital Times, a newspaper published in said county; and by serving a copy hereof personally on all persons interested in said estate including guardians of such as are minors or incompetents, if any, and residing in said county, and on the attorneys of all persons who have appeared in the proceedings herein, at least twenty days before such hearing.

Dated April 19th, 1923.
By the Court,
A. G. ZIMMERMAN,
Judge

Big Lot Sale Next Sunday April 29th, 1923

On Gallagher's New Home Sub-Division on Milwaukee St., One Block East of Marquette St.

25 high, dry, choice building lots will be sold $10.00 down and $10.00 each month.

Here is your opportunity to be a Home Owner. Buy your lot and I will show you how easy it is to secure a home. I have over 100 families living in their homes secured from me and 24 more families who are now building their new homes. Don't forget date of sale, next Sunday, April 29th, from 10 to 12 A. M. and 2 to 4 P. M. Come out next Sunday, select your home site and then during the coming week purchase same. Now remember these are the last choice home sites that I have for sale. Act quick if you want to own a home and pay rent to yourself instead of to your landlord, the same as hundreds of other families are doing. I will allow 10% discount on all cash paid within ten days of date of sale and remember this, you may never have an opportunity like this again. For further information see

Our Saturday Open Letters

TO THE RESIDENTS OF BREEZE TERRACE AND UNIVERSITY HEIGHTS

Dear West Siders: The plan to establish machine shops along University avenue west of the Forest Products lab will not be pleasant news to you. We are unable to understand why university authorities want to use this choice property for buildings of this type. We believe that a fine gymnasium building with a stately approach to the stadium would be more appropriate.

* * *

TO THE KIWANIS CLUB

Dear Kiwanians: We are greatly interested in your minstrel show to be given at the Parkway on May 4. The proceeds are to go to the underprivileged children of Madison. A good cause. It will be worth the price of admission to see Oswald Neesvig, L. W. Burch, C. H. Littleton, G. L. Gilbert, H. H. Hites, "Dad" Miller and F. O. Leiser in blackface.

* * *

TO ALD. W. J. OAKEY

Dear Alderman: Your proposal that dangerous street ends should be marked is a good one. The end of East Main street is particularly dangerous. Many people have narrowly escaped injury at that point. It is a deceptive place and autoists unfamiliar with this street may drive directly into the marsh.

* * *

TO PROF. JESSE W. SPROWLS, UNIVERSITY OF TENNESSEE

Dear Professor: You have been dismissed from the faculty of the University of Tennessee because you asked your students to read "Mind in the Making". In making the announcement of your dismissal one of the trustees said: "It is plain that the ideas of Dr. Sprowls are not in harmony with the authorities". Academic freedom isn't fashionable in Tennessee either.

* * *

TO THE WISCONSIN BOXING COMMISSION

Dear Commish: We would like to apply for permission to stage a card here in Madison between Battling Peterson and Kid Kittle. We might also want to put on Slam Fitzpatrick and Red Garey for another duel. We shall furnish gloves padded with some of the educational bills that have been introduced at this session. Tommy Duncan will be Peterson's second and Glenn Turner will be in Kittle's Korner. The proceeds will go to the proposed home for Disabled and Superannuated Legislators.

* * *

TO ATTY. GENERAL EKERN

Dear Herman: We have been informed that you recently held a conference with Gov. Pinchot of Pennsylvania and that he was greatly interested in the system of lighting Wisconsin's capitol dome. Gov. Pinchot has now decided to light the dome of the Harrisburg capitol in the same way. These outside states are not afraid to get ideas from Wisconsin are they, Herman? P. S.: Keep after the blue sky fellows, Herman.

TO PRESIDENT HARDING

Dear President: Your promise to have an "investigation" of the present sugar steal will not make much of an impression on the American people. Investigations usually are conveniences to stall off public wrath until the storm blows over. We presume, Mr. President, that the result of the investigation will be announced after the canning season is over.

TO THE PEOPLE OF MADISON

Dear People: The Mozart club will give the last of its popular Sunday afternoon concerts at the Central High school auditorium tomorrow afternoon. No admission, no collection. If you want to hear a good program go to the high school tomorrow.

TO SENATOR TEASDALE

Dear Senator: You complain that you are being charged $75 a month for three rooms here in Madison. You are paying too much, Senator. You can get a fine apartment, heated and with janitor service, for that price. Rents are high here as they are everywhere.

The State Press

Beloit News Criticises Action Of The Governor On Proposed Amendment.

(From Beloit News)

Governor Blaine's statecraft (or political stagecraft?) is such as to make the moonshiners beam. On top of his attacks on liquor law enforcement in his recent message to the legislature, the governor vetoes the Huber bill that would end the present mockery of justice under the commitment scheme.

Under the law sheriffs farm out their prisoners to private employers. The Huber amendment would have given judges the right to decide whether prisoners should spend the period of their sentences in actual confinement or be subject to private employment outside of jails.

The governor has brought new sweetness and light to the illicit hooch traffic by his latest veto of this eminently wise amendment.

The commitment law has made a travesty of justice. As Prohibition Commissioner W. Stanley Smith told the joint finance committee of the legislature that had the commitment law under consideration, bootleggers freed from actual confinement are "going back to the manufacture of illicit liquor."

The farce of the thing was pointedly enough illustrated here in Beloit when a prisoner convicted of liquor law violation promptly was committed to work for his wife in his own soft drink parlor without ever having gone near the county jail.

Governor Blaine, as an official sworn to uphold the laws, seems to be doing all in his power to nullify the prohibition law in this state.

(From The People's Voice, Green Bay)

A considerable amount of speculation has arisen during the past two weeks as to just where, if anywhere, Gov. Blaine stands today.

Elected on a progressive platform; promising tax reforms of a radical nature; swearing allegiance to certain inherent rights of the people Blaine had his opportunity to make good.

Is he making good in every sense of the word to those promises that put the crosses after his name on the ballot last fall?

Where does Blaine stand today on tax reform?

Why did he break with the organ of the administration at Madison?

Has he been "bluffed" by the threat of a clique of capitalists that they will leave the state unless taxation is modified to suit their ideas of what they desire, not should, pay into the coffers of the state?

Is Blaine living up to his campaign promises to the radicals in the legislature or is he trying earnestly, and with a signal lack of conspicuous success, to remain on two sides of the same fence?

The People's Voice makes no pretense to try and do the thinking for its readers.

This paper believes that the persons who read it are intelligent enough to do their own thinking, but—the governor's recent political moves lend themselves well to thought—plenty of thought.

A word to the wise is sufficient.

Voice of the People

WE SHOULD HATE TO LOSE YOU, DOCTOR.

[To The Editor]—Enclosed find check for $2 to renew my subscription to that extent. I am sick and tired of your dry editorials. If you think that is getting you anything to take exception to what Gov. Blaine has done so far in the legislature, then you are badly mistaken. The common people will not stand for you taking issue with the governor on enforcement issue. I have never drank beer or whiskey but that is no reason why I should tell others what they should do in this respect. I believe in what that great American citizen, Cardinal Gibbons, once said: "You cannot legislate morality by laws." If you continue on this dry campaign of yours I will ask you to send my unexpired term of the paper to Messrs. Hutton or Hicks.—Dr. S. F. Donovan, Tomah, Wis.

FROM A SERVICE MAN

[To The Editor]—When Sen. Garey states that his views on the National Guard appropriation bill are from the viewpoint of the ex-service man, he is very much mistaken.

The vast majority of those who served over seas became heartily disgusted with militarism and the expression "Never again," was constantly heard.

It is a strange sight to see Sen. Garey join hands with Sen. Burke.

Let us hope Sen. Garey will cease posing as a super-patriot, and consider this matter from the more sensible standpoint.

Sen. Huber is right. There is no reason why $200,000 is not sufficient, in view of the fact that the figures were around $162,000 before the war.

I served in the army 23 months, 21 of which were over seas.—John Watson, 1032 12th St., Milwaukee.

FROM ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE.

[To The Editor]—I am writing these lines to congratulate you on the editorial in The Capital Times, "The Menace to the Home; A Cambridge Mother's View of It." I consider it one of the most, if not the most powerful editorial, as well as the most timely, I have ever read. At least it impressed me in that manner.

You have given the Anti-Saloon league some pretty hard knocks, at times, and perhaps you have some more for us up your editorial sleeve, but we will take them with a "grin," if you will keep up the heroic and effective fight, which you have been waging for several months against the moonshine and bootleg business, and law violators in Madison, as well as against those who condone or defend the illegal liquor business.—Thomas W. Gales, Madison District Superintendent.

Some folks have the idea that the pursuit of happiness means chasing it away from the other fellow.

THE VAGABOND.

To tread the path of glory needs a braver soul than I,
A man who will not stop to watch the white clouds drifting by,
A man who will not pause to throw a pebble in a stream
Or stretch full length upon its bank, the captive of a dream.

A braver soul than I must tread the rugged way and long,
A man who will not stop to catch the wild canary's song,
A man who'll pass a thousand charms and never turn to see
The beauty of the petaled dress upon an apple tree.

To tread the path of glory needs a stronger soul than mine,
A man that isn't tempted when the air is sharp as wine,
A man that has no vision save the golden goal he seeks,
And doesn't hear the language which the voice of nature speaks.

But I am prey to woods and fields, to sunny hills and streams,
And I've a soul which likes to drift and tease itself with dreams,
And weak am I that should be strong—a sunbeam on a pond
Has but to wink an eye at me, and I'm a vagabond.

Questions and Answers

Dane County League of Women Voters Conducts Column of Questions and Answers Each Saturday on Public Matters; Will Endeavor to Bring About Education in Citizenship; Send in Your Questions.

Q.—What are the main provisions of the Dillingham Immigration Act?

A.—The Act went into effect May 19, 1921, and provided that the "number of aliens of any nationality who may be admitted to the United States in any fiscal year shall be limited to 3 percent of the number of persons of such nationality who were resident in the United States according to the census of 1910." "Nationality" is determined by country of birth. The quota law does not apply to the western hemisphere. Assignment of quotas limited the numbers admissible to 357,803 of whom 192,000 are admissible from northern and western Europe and 158,000 from southern and eastern Europe. Not more than 20 percent of the annual quota can be admitted in any one month. The admitted purpose of the law was to limit immigration from southern Europe without obstructing the normal flow of northern and central European immigration. The Act of 1921 applied for only one year, but was extended to June 30, 1924, by act of congress in 1922.

* * *

Q.—What has been the effect of the law?

A.—During the first year of its operation, southern and eastern European countries used more than 95 percent of their allotted quotas, while the northern and western countries of Europe sent less than half of their quotas. However, the type of the immigrant and the amount of emigration must be taken into account. Although 309,556 aliens entered the United States during the first year of operation of whom 243,353 were chargeable against legal quotas), 198,712 left the country, leaving a net immigration of 110,844. Of this number 94 percent were females and a large proportion of the others were children. The largest number of the immigrants were women, children, old people and Jews. The reason for the large number of Jews was that they were counted in with the quotas of the countries where they were born. This has now been changed by assigning a separate quota to Jews.

The percentages of emigrants to immigrants for several nationalities for the five years, 1918-1922, were as follows: Poles, 603 percent; Bulgarians, 296 percent; Magyars, 202 per cent; Russians, 185 percent. It should be pointed out that this emigration is abnormal, due to particular European conditions which will not last. Furthermone, the law went into effect during a year of business depression, which had a twofold effect: (1) To restrict the numbers applying for admission and (2) To stimulate emigration.

Complaint has been made that the "three-percent Act" together with natural restriction of immigration during the war years, has created a shortage of common labor, resulting in a disproportionate increase in wages. Some economists, however, state that this shortage is not general, but is a dearth of particular types of labor. The remedy for this situation, they say, is not wholesale lifting of the immigration bars, but better business management on the part of employers in using the labor market.

* * *

Q.—What are the advantages of the law claimed by those who favor its continuance?

A.—(1) The present law makes possible a larger proportion of northern and western European immigrants which form the stock most easily assimilated and more liable to make better citizens than the stock of southern Europe.

(2) It reduces the total number of immigrants to such an extent that the Americanization problem practically takes care of itself.

(3) It prevents the labor inflation characteristic of a business boom and thus relieves the problem of unemployment which inevitably follows over-expansion of business.

* * *

Q.—What changes have been advocated?

A.—Opponents of the present law, including a large number of employers, want to relieve the severity of the restrictions in order to increase the labor supply. An organized campaign seems to be developing in support of this attitude. Even some well-wishers of the present law want amendments relative to physical examination in ports of departure, viseeing of passports, etc.

Some of those in favor of restriction wish to make restriction even more rigorous. To this end a bill was introduced in the last congress providing for the reduction of the quotas to two percent of the nationalities determined according to the 1890 census. This provision is modified by the admission, outside of the quotas, of near relatives of citizens already here. Basing the quotas on the 1890 census and reducing the percentage from three to two favors still further the northern and western European immigration. The bill was not passed before congress adjourned.

Our Last Word on Health

Oh, he practiced soil pollution,
Putting poison in his well;
Then "the doctor told the sexton
And the sexton tolled the bell."

Where there's a roach, there's a reason.

Cistern bred mosquitoes carry dengue fever.

Here's a flea proof plea for a rat proof flat.

If there's no top on your cistern, put a top minnow in it.

When there's screen upon the window there's no doctor at the door.

Exposing foods to rats and roaches
Is expensive, you'll agree;
They dine upon your Cheese and crackers—
While the doctor gets a fee.

Poems That Live

APPLE BLOSSOMS.

Have you seen an apple orchard in the spring?
In the spring?
An English apple orchard in the spring?
When the spreading trees are hoary
With their wealth of promised glory,
And the mavis pipes his story
In the spring!

Have you plucked the apple blossoms in the spring?
In the spring?
And caught their subtle odors in the spring?
Pink buds bursting at the light,
Crumpled petals baby-white,
Just to touch them a delight!
In the spring!

Have you seen a merry bridal in the spring?
In the spring?
In an English apple country in the spring?
When the bride and maidens wear
Apple blossoms in their hair;
Apple blossoms everywhere,
In the spring?

If you have not, then you know not, in the spring,
In the spring,
Half the color, beauty, wonder of the spring.
No sight can I remember,
Half so precious, half so tender,
As the apple blossoms render
In the spring!

TICKS O'THE TIMES

AMPUFIED BY IRV SHAFRIN

OUR OWN SPRING POEM.

This morning, just as the clock hit nine, we dashed into the Spring Poem editor's office and handed him our inspiration, which had taken us till three in the morning to materialize.

"Sorry," he grinned, handing us back our manuscript, "but you're too late."

Well, glaring daggers didn't even tickle his epidermis; but just for spite we're going to print it and let our readers send us the V.

Here it is:

I went into the gym today
And saw the high-jumpers at play;
He leaped six feet; I rent a cheer—
"That's easy," said he, "Spring is here!"

I spied a sparsely-costumed lass
Who danced, aesthetic, on the grass;
I queried: "What's the big idear?"
She pirouetted: "Spring is here!"

The squirrels gamboled up to me
And hopped about in gushing glee;
I cried: "You must be out of gear."
"Nay, nay," they chirruped, "Spring is here!"

And e'en my landlord knows the scent;
Today, once more, he raised the rent,
And when I asked in accents drear
The cause, he answered: "Spring is here!"

Thank you, folks; we really didn't expect such a flock of five-dollar bills!

While we're in the mood, we'll spring a joke also:

Sunday afternoon a local high-flyer who showed unmistakable symptoms of a little excess anti-Volstead er—sauntered past the Orpheum theater just as the matinee was leaving out.

As he stood there, rather uncertainly, one of the actresses, highly rouged, emerged from the stage entrance.

"My," remarked the tipsy one, as he peered at her, "but your cheeks are red."

"Sir," she replied, giving him a refrigerator stare, "it's only the reflection of your nose that you're seeing."

QUITE RIGHT, DONALD.

Sure, and there must be a little o' the devil in the poet, too. She did not believe in devils when she came to Madison, and in spite of what the preacher said maintained that there was no Devil.

But lo! One day the poet spied a woman looking at her; there was such concentrated malice in the black eyes of the stranger that the poet gazed in open-mouthed astonishment and her brain said: "The devil!"

And sure, there must be a little o' the devil in the poet too, or she wouldn't have recognized him in the black-eyed woman. (Thats a scientific fact).

It rains not violets, but rain,
And darned wet rain, at that!

MODERNIZED MYTHS.

XIV. THE GODS' REWARD.

One day Jupiter and Mercury were traveling cross-country disguised as disciples of Gen. Coxey. They came to a town and asked for food and shelter, but everyone sicked the watchdog at them except an old couple, the man's name being Philemon and his wife's Baucis. Philemon and his wife welcomed the tramps to their table, and put food and wine upon the table.

Well, Jupe and Hermy pitched into the repast. They poured each other wine from the pitcher, and the old couple was astonished to see that as fast as the wine was poured out the pitcher filled up again. Philemon and his wife fell upon their knees and acknowledged their heavenly visitors.

Said Jupiter: "Hie yourselves forth from this city; the citizens shall pay for their rudeness." And as sure as Adam's nickname was Mud, after the four had reached the outskirts, the whole town turned into a lake. Only the house of Philemon was left standing, and that turned into a temple.

The couple lived happily ever after, and were changed into trees by Jupiter as their dying wish.

The tale, of course, has no moral, except that we'd like to know what the deuce became of that pitcher.

SHEAR NONSENSE

"Doctor," said the caller, "if there is anything the matter with me don't frighten me half to death with a long scientific name. Just tell me in plain English."

"Well, sir, to be frank with you, you are lazy."

"Thank you, doctor. Now tell me the scientific name for it; I've got to tell my wife."
